Allies Closer Now, Ike Tells Portugal

Peaceful Coexistence Still Aim: Soviet

BlamesU.S. For Failure Of Summit

Berlin Reception Is Biggest Ever

BERLIN (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev flew into East Berlin today from the wrecked summit talks, saying the Soviet Union will stick to a policy of seeking "peaceful coexistence."

But, looking serious, the Soviet Premier returned to the attack on the United States in an airport speech. He declared circles that wanted to apply the law of the jungle had regained the upper hand in the United States.

Still Significant

"The government of the United States made the summit conference impossible," he said. "But the questions which were to have been discussed there have not lost their significance. These include the conclusion of a peace treaty with the Germans and a solution of the problem of Berlin which is connected therewith."

Referring to his talks with Communist East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and Communist leader Walter Ulbricht, Khrushchev continued:

"In view of the new situation, we have to talk with Comrades Ulbricht and Grotewohl. I think that the upcoming exchange of views will be useful for the peace of Europe."

No New Threats

Khrushchev made no new threats against West Berlin but said he was going to talk the Berlin problem over with East German Communist leaders.

Hundreds of thousands of East Berliners, released from factories, offices and schools, cheered and waved to Khrushchev on his 25-mile trip from East Berlin's airport to the residence of East German President Wilhelm Pieck.

West Berliners, who had seen Khrushchev on four previous visits, said the reception was the biggest he ever has had in Berlin.

Before leaving Paris, Khrushchev reiterated his statement that

Downtown Opposes Meter Hike

Merchants Desire Measure Cut Out

Opposition to an authorized change in parking meter rates was made through a resolution adopted Wednesday night by the Rondout Area Business Men's Association.

In effect it backs a petition which began circulating among merchants in the uptown area Monday opposing the increase in the more congested areas from five cents an hour to five cents a half hour. The five-cent charge for the hour will continue elsewhere, but with an extension of the time limit to two hours for the second nickel.

Ask for Rescinding

Asking that the parking meter measure adopted at the May 3 Common Council meeting be rescinded, the merchants said they felt "that this increase in fee would be detrimental to business in the entire city as well as being an added burden to the consumer."

A committee was named to arrange for parking facilities on a site near the former Cornell Building to be acquired by the county, and the association expressed its "sincere and heartfelt thanks" to members of the Board of Supervisors, who supported the measure authorizing purchase of the building.

Marvin I. Millens, of B. Millens & Sons, was elected the association's secretary.

5,000 Hail President At Airport

Eisenhower Will Fly Home Friday

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—President Eisenhower today flew into Portugal for a warm welcome after expressing conviction that the failure of the summit conference had joined the Western allies "even closer than before in determined pursuit of peace with justice in the world."

Some Get Day Off

The staunchly anti-Communist Portugese greeted the President with open arms as a great defender of human rights and the Western civilization. A crowd of 5,000 cheered him at the airport.

Government employes were given the morning off to join in the rousing reception and—in the words of a Portuguese spokesman—to show "how much appreciated is his determination in safeguarding peace with dignity."

The President arrived from Paris by special jet for an overnight visit before flying on to Washington Friday.

Recalling that he had visited Portugal in 1951, the President told President Americo Rodrigues Tomaz and the nation's strongman ruler for 32 years, Premier Antonio de Oliveria Salazar:

Ike Notes Ties

'In coming to Portugal I feel once more that I am visiting old friends. Since the founding of the United States the relationships between the two countries have been happy.

'From the outset we have worked together without a single difference of opinion. Today, as members of the United Nations and as partners in NATO, we continue to work together in the common cause of peace and justice for all men."

Crowds six and eight deep lined the route of the presidential procession through the capital to Queluz Palace, where Eisenhower is staying.

President Looks Tired

The President and his hosts rode in an open Rolls Royce surrounded by Republican Horse Guards in blue tunics and white breeches.

Eisenhower looked tired but he had a wide grin as he waved to the crowds.

While outwardly cheerful and smiling, he did not try to hide his disappointment at the fiasco of the East-West talks that never really got started.

Just before leaving Paris, Eisenhower made his first public comment on the collapse of the conference. But he made no attempt to answer the insults heaped on him and the United States by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

"I share the disappointment of

Kingston Population Is 29,778

Census Shows County With 118,305 Persons

Ulster County's population increased a total of 25,684 persons in the last 10 years, and gains also were noted in preliminary totals released for the City of Kingston and the Towns of Saugerties and Wawarsing by District Supervisor R. Frank Vacca, of the Bureau of Census.

The 1950 census showed the population of Ulster County was 92,621. The 1960 census listed a total of 118,305 persons in the county. Kingston City gained 961—from 28,817 in 1950 to 29,778 this year.

Other Increasess

Vacca said today the population for the Town of Saugerties increased in the 10-year period from 9,232 to 13,485, a gain of 4,253 persons, while the Town of Wawarsing's population increased from 9,912 to 11,215, a gain of 1,303.

The district census supervisor said these figures are believed to be substantially correct, but are subject to revision after the returns from non-residents are credited to their proper locality and other routine checks have been made.

Official Figures Coming

Although a significant revision is unlikely, Vacca said, minor revision may possibly occur after careful examination of the returns. The official announcement of population will be made at a later date by the Director of the Bureau of Census.

The office of the district supervisor at Poughkeepsie released only the census figures in the county, city and towns of Saugerties and Wawarsing. Vacca told The Freeman that population figures for other

CE Expects 500 In City for N.Y. Parley May 27-30

The Old Dutch Church will be host for the 67th annual convention of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union May 27-30.

The convention will attract 500 young people from various parts of the state.

The local committee on arrangements headed by Richard Talleur, has a major challenge in lodging the youngsters. Persons interested in offering facilities for the four-day conference are invited to contact the Old Dutch Church.

Talleur said today the committee is planning a convention to challenge young people to greater service for Christ.

The evening sessions, over the Memorial Day weekend, will be addressed by Dr. Clyde Meadows, president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor; "Jim" Vaus, an ambassador for Christ in New York City's crime-ridden east side and Dr. A. G. Crescenzo, well-known State CE leader.

More than a dozen conferences will be conducted during the convention by prominent CE leaders, Talleur said.

Registration and housing assignments will be held at the church Friday afternoon, May 27.

There will be a junior convention Sunday afternoon, May

Proposal Killed To Merge Town, Po'keepsie City

A proposal offered by a Town of Poughkeepsie councilman that the town and City of Poughkeepsie merge under one municipality rule as a means of solving problems of the two communities, gained no support from other town officials at a meeting Wednesday night.

Councilman James E. Brannigan suggested that the Town Council take the initiative by starting an investigation of the

Kingston Rate Drops 7 Points

Equalization Is Down In 13 Out of 20 Towns

Reduced equalization rates due to rising real estate values was noted for 13 of Ulster County's 20 townships and for the City of Kingston in an Albany report today.

Equalization rates are the state's estimate of the ratio between the assessed valuation and the market value of real property in communities throughout the state.

Rates for 636 towns and 37 cities were tentatively listed by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, the Associated Press said.

City Rate Down 7 Points

Among the county's townships Hurley's drops nine points, from 42 to 33, and the City of Kingston rate is down seven points from 42 to 35. The rate in the Town of Olive is down only a point from 16 to 15.

A rate of 50, as an example of the change, would mean that a community assesses property for tax purposes at half its actual value. If the market value increases, but the assessment does not, the rate would drop. Lowered rates will bring higher school taxes in some districts.

Both the city and county, in recent years, have used rates as originally fixed by the state equalization board. All rates are subject to challenge by towns and communities involved. The board has slated public hearings for June 10, 13 and 14.

Townships not listed, to date, for changes in rates are Denning, Hardenburgh, Kingston, Lloyd, Marbletown, Shandaken and Rosendale.

Towns with tentative reduced rates are:

	1959	1958
Esopus	19	21
Gardiner	13	15
Hurley	33	42
Marlboro	21	23
New Paltz	15	18
Olive	15	16

Wallkill Man Is Killed as Truck Rams Into Tree

Duane Low Dolan, 44, of RD 1, Wallkill, was instantly killed late Wednesday night when his pickup truck went out of control on Route 208 about a mile north of Route 300, Town of Shawangunk, and smashed into a tree.

He was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Charles Beattie of Wallkill.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle of Kingston issued a verdict of accidental death due to a fractured skull.

Trooper Harry Foster said that Mr. Dolan was proceeding north when he failed to negotiate a curve to the left, skidded on wet pavement and went off the right side of the highway, striking a tree with the left side of the truck.

Hhe mishap occurred about 10:15 p. m.

Big 3 Supported By NATO Council

PARIS (AP)— The Permanent Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization expressed unanimous support to the United States, Britain and France today in the tense situation following the breakdown of the summit conference.

The Big Three Western foreign ministers reported to a special meeting of the council on the week's stormy diplomatic events. The 15-nation council reaffirmed its "complete solidarity" and approved the Western foreign ministers' readiness to continue to seek solution of world problems by "peaceful means through negotiations."

The council also expressed approval of Big Three readiness "to take part in such negotiations at any suitable time in the future."

Decision Upheld Not to Dismiss $100,000 Action

A supreme court justice's decision denying application of three parties to dismiss a $100,000 action for damages, alleging fraud in a Rosendale area property purchase, has been upheld by the Appellate Division, Third Department, Supreme Court.

Ward K. Jansen, of Stone Ridge is suing Andrew J. Snyder, Century Cement Manufacing Company, Inc., of Rosendale and John J. Kelly, a chemist there, who allegedly conspired with Snyder in the 1954 purchase of Jansen's land.

Jansen contends the defendants led him to believe they wanted it for a summer camp, but that they knew it contained valuable minerals and cement products under the surface.

The Appellate Division this week upheld a ruling given by Supreme Court Justice Herbert D. Hamm at a 1959 special term in Albany denying defendants' motion to dismiss the damage action.

Jansen's complaint says that

Colonel for Athletics

Physical Fitness Keystone In Education of Our Youth

This generation of the tallest, heaviest and most nearly disease-free youth in all history is being subtly victimized by an age of mechanization, standardization, specialization, urbanization and materialism, Col. Frank J. Kobes, professor of physicial education at West Point Military Acadamy, told the Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday.

President Eisenhower became aroused about this problem and established the President's Council on Youth Fitness five years ago, the speaker declared. The Colonel is an advisor to this Council.

This human erosion which is occurring because of our sedentary living has significant implications for our schools, he said. It is indeed tragic when individuals cannot achieve to their full potention because they lack the strength and stamina to do so. It doesn't make much sense to put so much effort and money into preparing fine scientists, doctors, lawyers, musicians, journalists, businessmen and the like and then fail to provide them with the means and incentive to remain fit and healthy.

It seems that too many of us believe we can buy our fitness in a pill, in a bottle or on a gadget.

Continuing the Colonel said that physical fitness is the keystone in the education of our young men. And athletic activities form a great portion of any physical fitness program. In a realistic sense intercollegiate and interscholastic sports teams should be honest outgrowths of an "athletics for all" intramural athletic program which is part of an enlightened physical education program commencing in the elementary grades.

Kickback Matters Due Monday

Appellate Division to Hear Bid Rigging, Road Boss Cases

The Ulster County kickback probe will be aired again before the Appellate Division in Albany on Monday.

Motions will be made for dismissal of the indictment charging Walter Truck Company, Rand-MacMurray Company, Harry Bareika individually, and Harry Bareika, Inc., with conspiracy to rig bids on sale of a Walter truck to the Town of Woodstock. John E. Egan, Kingston attorney, appears for Bareika; John T. DeGraff of Albany appears for Walter Truck and Charles H. Stall of Hicksville, L. I., appears for Rand-MacMurray.

The indictment charges the three conspired to rig bids for sale of a truck to the Town of Woodstock to permit Bareika to enter the low bid of $19,855. The other two firms bid over $20,000.

The second matter to be heard by the Appellate court is the application by Special Prosecutor Bernard Tompkins to have Amos B. Stokes, Town Superintendent of Highways of the Town of Marbletown, removed from office under a civil procedure under Section 36 of the Public Officers Law on the grounds of misconduct in office in that he accepted bribes on road oil purchases.

John E. Egan, attorney for Stokes, will seek dismissal on the application on the grounds the

Khrushy Like Diplomatic Omelette: Ham and Anger

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev is such a ham he'd go good in a delicatessen window. But he's no windbag. The West made its mistake in treating him as one.

The deepest danger in dealing with him—one the West had to learn the hard way—is that he doesn't play according to Western rules. That's what makes him unpredictable.

Unlike the West

His performance at the Paris summit meeting and particularly his name-calling — he likened President Eisenhower to a thief—shocked the West which judges by its own yarkstick.

Western statesmen are polite, frigidly dignified when angry, and great believers in the traditional, which means formal, way of chastising people who offend them. They wear dignity like a charm to ward off voodoo.

In contrast: What Western statesman would ever, in public call Nazi sympathizers what Khrushchev did Wednesday at a news conference? The Russian word he used came out in various translations as riffraff, louts and bastards. Western statesmen might think such terms, but they wouldn't say them.

The kind of diplomatic omelette Khrushchev whips up is ham mixed with anger.

For example: His fish-wife argument with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Moscow; his temper-tantrums in Hollywood; his verbal brawl with labor leaders; his wearing a longshoreman's cap in San Francisco.

Big Ham Over Timing

His biggest hamming is in his timing. His arrival in Washington last September came just as the Soviets fired a moon shot; He arrived at the summit meeting as the Soviets launched a space ship.

But the West had to suffer one shock after another before it learned—if it has learned, even now—that his hamming has nothing to do with his serious intentions and that therefore he can't be treated lightly or with contempt.

Ever since November 1958, he had insisted the West must get its troops out of West Berlin or face the prospect of his shutting the city off from the West entirely.

He used this threat as blackmail to get the Western leaders to the Paris summit meeting with him. He may have had some other reasons for wanting a summit. Perhaps he genuinely wanted easing of tensions so the Soviet Union could develop faster internally.

But then in April, a month before the summit, the Western foreign ministers met here and very complacently, as if Khrushchev were not to be taken seriously, decided the West would stand pat at the summit.

This angered him. It left him with little to look forward to but an empty conference. A few days after the ministers' meeting broke up he made a furious speech at Baku.

Treated Lightly

In this he told the West in effect: Don't take me lightly; I mean it when I say you have to get the troops out of Berlin.

Was he even then taken seriously? No, not even by Eisenhower who told a news conference three days later: "It is just a reiteration of the same old theme . . . I don't think we should take that too seriously."

Just four days after Eisenhower brushed aside Khrushchev's angry speech an American spy plane was brought down over the Soviet Union. Khrushchev reacted violently to this intrusion. Aggression, he called it.

Even that didn't induce the State Department to handle him cautiously. It issued a statement which it permitted newsmen to interpret as meaning this country would continue to send spy planes over the Soviet Union.

This is what blew the lid off although by this time—perhaps realizing he couldn't talk the West into meeting his Berlin demands—Khrushchev may have been ready to blow up the summit meeting anyway.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 19, 1960

HUDSON VALLEY PHILHARMONIC

A unique event in the form of a musical privilege for the residents of Kingston and the immediate surrounding area will take place here on the evening of May 24 in the auditorium of Kingston High School. On this occasion, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Claude Monteux will play its first formal concert in Kingston.

Musical events are not unusual in this city and area, where they have been supported by music lovers. Without this support, music would not be where it stands here today. The interest of school children in music has been heightened and concerts have received splendid support. Generally speaking music has become a part of our community life.

In its appearance here, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic is making a giant stride towards bringing live symphony music to this region on a regular basis. This orchestra, which is comprised of professional performers accustomed to high standards in musical taste and performances, also will serve Poughkeepsie and Newburgh, bringing the entire Hudson Valley the benefits of symphony concerts.

An enthusiastic greeting and solid support of their introductory appearance here will assure the directors of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society that a regular winter series can be continued by Ulster County residents.

There is a high elevation of musical culture in this area and we believe that music lovers here will welcome the opportunity to have on a permanent basis a professional orchestra under the very capable leadership of a noted conductor.

This coming winter such international artists as violinist Erica Morini and pianist Claude Arrau will appear with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra.

Any city that provides its people with the beauties of symphonic concerts is a good place in which to live.

Being thick-skinned may not make a winning personality, but it helps in some ticklish situations.

The new "smell" movies have at least given comedians a new theme for gags.

CASTRO'S EXTREMISM

The Castro revolution in Cuba began as a movement against the brutal dictatorship of the Batista regime. Fidel Castro's apparent aim was the relatively simple one of throwing the rascals out and giving the government back to the people.

But since January 1959, when the triumphant young leader refused high office for himself and promised free elections as soon as things had stabilized enough to make them possible, the revolution has changed in character. It has become more and more radical. It has gone much further along the road of extremism than many of its early supporters expected.

The Castro regime is working more and more closely with the Communists, making increased use of their organized cadres. Expropriation and collectivization have been speeded up and broadened. Castro himself no longer tries to explain in what ways his revolution is unlike that of the Communists. Those close to him are hard put to it for answers when they are asked how they differ from the Communists.

This trend is in itself of profound concern to the United States. There is even greater reason for concern when one considers that Castro and such more radical associates as Ernesto Guevara and Raul Raul Castro consider their revolution the forerunner of similar revolts in other Latin American countries.

The question whether Fidel Castro is himself a Communist is not the most important question involved. The extent of Communist influence is more to the point. That influence appears to be on the increase, and as it grows Cuban freedom dwindles.

SPIES ON THE RECORD

Andrei Gromyko said that Soviet Russia did not employ spies in the United States. Gromyko had lived in the United States for many years before he became the Soviet Minister of Foreign Affairs, a position he now holds. There is a long record of espionage. Here is a case:

On the evening of April 12, 1951, a lone male emerged from the darkness and made his way to the base of the Washington Monument in Washington, D. C. On his left hand he wore a glove, a strip of adhesive tape circled the middle finger of his right hand, and he carried a red-covered book under his left arm. This man was Mr. Z (fictitious), who was employed in a sensitive position by a United States Government agency. Moments later, he was joined by Yuri Novikov, Second Secretary at the Soviet Embassy in Washington. This meeting signified the initial effort to expand, on American soil, a Soviet espionage apparatus developed in Austria in 1948. This apparatus had been under the watchful eyes of our military authorities abroad for two years.

From that night on, through the Spring of 1952, Novikov met on twelve occasions with Mr. Z at numerous meeting places in Washington. Information which Novikov solicited from Mr. Z on behalf of Russian included data relating to the American Air Force personnel stationed abroad, morale among Air Force officers and enlisted personnel, Air Force interrogation techniques, the identity of the American Intelligence sources, the identity of fellow employes of Mr. Z and the names of American military personnel destined for overseas assignment. Novikov also requested information about U. S. Intelligence files dealing with Russian installations and Russian military capabilities, American preparations for war or defense, and the current location of a defected Soviet airman then in this country.

In Vienna, Austria, two naturalized citizens of the U. S., Kurt L. Ponger and Otto Verber, knew of the meeting between Novikov and Mr. Z and had, in fact, been instrumental in making arrangements for the event. Ponger and Verber had returned to Austria with their families after service in the American Army in Europe during World War II.

In early 1949 Ponger was recruited in Vienna by Soviet Intelligence and shortly thereafter, in March, 1949, he recruited Verber, his brother-in-law, for the same kind of work. Verber, in turn, recruited Mr. Z, then an employe of the American Forces in Austria assigned to Intelligence work. After that, Verber had frequent contact with Mr. Z and obtained certain data from him concerning Intelligence personnel, policies, activities and other information pertaining to U. S. Forces in Austria. In December, 1950, however, Mr. Z, Verber's principal source of Intelligence information, left Europe on transfer to the U. S. Ponger and Verber persuaded Mr. Z to continue as a member of the Soviet espionage ring in connection with his new post in the U. S.

They paid Mr. Z a special bonus on behalf of their Soviet masters, relayed Soviet praises for his valuable assistance, and issued final instructions to Mr. Z concerning his proposed first meeting with his new principal at the Washington Monument. This is the meeting which occurred on the evening of the second Tuesday in April, 1951.

Verber and Ponger continued their Soviet Intelligence efforts, operating in Austria and West Germany, until apprehended in Vienna by U. S. military authorities in January, 1953. Arraigned at Washington, D. C., Verber and Ponger pleaded not guilty to a secret indictment by a Federal Grand Jury charging them with conspiracy to commit espionage. Novikov was named in the indictment as a co-conspirator, whereupon Novikov was declared persona non grata by the State Department. He left the U. S. en route to the Soviet Union soon thereafter.

On being confronted with information indicating specific knowledge of their activities abroad, Verber and Ponger changed their pleas to guilty. In June, 1953, they were sentenced and imprisoned in U. S. Federal penitentiaries. Verber received a sentence of three years, four months to ten years, while Ponger was sentenced to serve a term of from five to fifteen years.

And Mr. Z? Mr. Z, throughout the operations involving Verber, Ponger, and Novikov, maintained the illusion of conspiracy. While Verber, Ponger, and Novikov greedily contemplated even greater achievements by Mr. Z, Z enriched the Treasury of the United States by several thousands of dollars emanating from Russian hands. He also furnished information and made observations of inestimable value to the FBI in the course of its investigation.

Immunize Child to Avert Serious Throat Infection

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In an earlier column, I explained what the tonsils and the rest of the lymphoid ring do for you and what happens when they get into a hassle with enemy bacteria that try to enter your body.

Before I tell you about means for prevention and cure of throat infections, I must speak of some of the common complications.

Every once in a while, in a particularly virulent or neglected infection, the defenses of tonsils and adenoids are overwhelmed.

If the tonsillar garrison is destroyed, your doctor comes on a tonsillar abscess.

If that abscess extends beyond the tonsillar wall, it's called a peri-tonsillar abscess or quinsy. It may be necessary for a surgeon to lance and drain these abscesses.

If the adenoid garrison is destroyed or bypassed, the infection is apt to get into the eustachian tubes that extend from the back of the throat to the ears.

Later, if the adenoids remain swollen after the infection has subsided, they may block the throat entrances to the tubes and cause the child's hearing to be impaired.

Finally, in this present recitation of horrors, swelling of the tonsils or extension of the diphtheria membrance into the throat may block the airway, particularly of an infant., Then the youngster develops the dreaded "croup"

That's why it's so very important for mothers to insist on completion of a full immunization schedule before your child is a year old.

Now I think we're ready to enter into an intelligent discussion of ways and means for preventing and treating throat infections. Here in brief is a list of my personal recommendations:

Because of the dangers of diphtheria and polio infections, each of which enters through the throat, protect each infant in the first year of life and thereafter as required by preventive immunizations.

Because of the dangers of streptococcal infections, especially to "delicate" youngsters, those with heart troubles, asthmatics, children of rheumatic families and those who have already had attacks of rheumatic fever, arrange for a "protective umbrella" of penicillin or some appropriate substitute from early fall to early summer. Ask your doctor about this.

Do not waste time and money on ineffectual medications, or applications to neck or chest and the like.

None of these agencies does significant harm to invading bacteria. None gives significant help to your tonsillar defense outposts.

Don't assume the responsibility of diagnosing and treating a "sore throat." Even a mild inflammation requires professional observation and care.

Don't complain of the extra expense of your doctor making a throat culture. Even the trained pediatrist is sometimes startled by the laboratory report.

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Expense in the Kennedy and Humphrey campaigning assured that the importance of money in politics was properly emphasized for everyone this year.

A seven-year study of this subject has just been completed by Alexander Heard, professor of political science and dean of the graduate school at University of North Carolina.

The result is a 500-page, six-dollar book, "The Costs of Democracy."

It is the first comprehensive study of American political financing since 1932.

It is "must" reading for everybody interested in politics.

It covers five main phases of campaign financing.

The effect of campaign expenditures on elections.

The sources of campaign funds.

What special interest groups—business, labor, the underworld—expect from campaign contributions.

How the money is spent and the changing character of expenditures.

Proposals for altering the present system of contributions, with suggestions for future legal controls.

HEARD LISTS A NUMBER of popular assumptions that in his opinion do not hold up:

The real cost of campaigning have not soared steadily upward, he says. The long-run increase is no greater than rises in price levels and national income.

He finds that money is not supplied solely by fat cats. Both parties have them, but many millions of people now kick in. The trend is toward more similar gifts from more people.

He feels the labor movement is not a bottomless source of campaign money. Important in some areas, it is insignificant in most.

The inefficiency, confusion and mistakes of campaign management are appealing and costly. Politicians aren't as shrewd as they would have you believe.

And finally, American attempts at legal control over the spending have not all been futile. They fail only when they attempt to do the impossible..

A UNIVERSITY OF North Carolina research staff was assigned to find the total cost of political activity in the 1952 campaign.

It came up with a figure of 140 million dollars.

This was spent 20 million dollars (14 per cent) at the national level, 67 million (48 per cent) at the state level and 53 million (38 per cent) in local elections.

All this spending creates the impression that the United States is a sham democracy, Heard reports.

"The power of wealth, it is charged, runs roughshod over the peoples' interests and their political will."

He denies the charge.

ONE REASON the totals run high is that there are aproximately 500,000 elective offices. Assuming at least two candidates for every office, that would mean a million campaigners.

The cost per voter — on the basis of the 62 million voting in the last two presidential races —would be around $2.50 each.

In general, Heard reports that in 1952 and 1956, Republican candidates had 50 per cent more money to spend than Democrats.

Despite this, he says that, "it cannot be argued convincingly that the Democratic party has lost a single presidential election in the 20th century for lack of funds."

The author contends, however, that "The effect of money in politics is more certain in determining who the candidates will be than in determining the outcome of elections."

In other words, cash is most important in the primaries. If a prospective candidate can't get the money to meet the costs of a campaign, he might as well get out of the race.

Way Is Seen Clear for U. S. To Break Ties With Russia

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It may well be asked why the United States government should continue diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

Every American ambassador is a personal representative of the President of the United States. If the Soviet government refuses to do business with the President, how can the American government continue to keep its ambassador and his staff in Moscow? And if the United States withdraws its ambassador, wouldn't it be logical to hand passports to the Soviet ambassador to Washington? Routine business could be conducted, through other government's embassies, as is the case when no direct diplomatic relations are maintained.

Mr. Khrushchev has just said that for the next six or eight months he doesn't want to negotiate or do business with the United States. He adds that if the kind of President he likes isn't elected in November by the American people, he will keep the boycott and wait till the next election to see if a man who will do his bidding is chosen.

Called Egomaniac

This sort of comment, made by Mr. Khrushchev at his lengthy press conference in Paris, is the outburst of an egomaniac who happens to posses governmental power for the moment. There is no rule in the book which says the American people must continue to maintain diplomatic relations with a government that has publicly insulted the President of the United States. Indeed, the history of diplomacy shows that, for much less violent language or discourtesies by another government, many an ambassador has been handed his papers.

The hypocrisy of Mr. Khrushchev is illustrated by what he said at his Wednesday press conference about how he knew in September, 1959, when he visited President Eisenhower, that there had been U-2 flights over the Soviet Union's territory.

"I almost opened my mouth," said Mr. Khrushchev in referring to his knowledge of the U-2 flights. But, he added, because the atmosphere at Camp David was so cordial, he said to himself, "why raise this matter with this friend then?"

Made No Protest

But if the flights over Russia are as serious a matter as the Soviet Premier now pretends, why didn't he at least send a note of protest to the Department of State through his Embassy and say in 1959 all that he now says about the seriousness of any violation of Russian "sovereignty" by the flights of the U-2 type of plane?

Clearly Mr. Khrushchev had a reason for stirring up a fuss now. First, he wanted to prevent Mr. Eisenhower from going to the Soviet Union this summer. The Soviet Premier was afraid the visit might open the eyes and ears of the Russian people. For they would learn at first hand from the President of the United States some simple facts that the Soviet press and radio have kept from them by government order. Mr. Eisenhower, it was feared, would tell about the way freedom of speech, freedom of worship, and freedom of the press and radio and television are practiced in the United States and the high standard of living enjoyed by the workers here. Now, for instance, could the Soviet Government afford, without taking the big risks internally to let Mr. Eisenhower speak on the television and radio for the same length of time that American stations gave to Mr. Khrushchev when he visited America last autumn?

So the easiest thing, Mr. Khrushchev doubtless thought, was to find a reason for cancellation of the trip. Once this had been publicized, he couldn't consistently fraternize with Mr. Eisenhower in Paris and carry on parleys with the heads of state. For obviously the withdrawal of the invitation to Mr. Eisenhower was in itself a personal affront, and hence Mr. Khrushchev had to appear very angry about something and build up the plane incident to mammoth proportions.

But what happens next? The Soviet Premier has declared all negotiations off for several months. He pretends to be friendly to Prime Minister Macmillan and General de Gaulle, but he knows now that the West is united and will not be divided. If he begins to show hostility to the British and French, it will be a sign that the Soviet Premier is getting ready to make a separate peace with East Germany and to complicate the European situation further.

War of Nerves Seen

In that event, the Western allies will have to decide whether they will submit to the expulsion of their armed forces from West Berlin — and then anything could happen. Most likely it would be a period of high tension—a sort of war of nerves. Khrushchev, like Hitler, is capable of carrying his bluffs to extremes. That's why there are fears that a one-man dictatorship may again plunge the world into a bloody conflict — perhaps a so-called "limited" war. As the chances of such a contingency become a subject of world-wide discussion, it seems logical to assume that the Russian people will exercise a restraining hand and that the peoples in the "satellite" countries may find it opportune to voice their protests by means of public demonstrations such as occurred in 1956 in Hungary.

Meanwhile, Republicans and Democrats are uniting to present a common front to Khrushchev. If diplomatic relations are severed, it will be done only after consultation with the leaders of both parties in Congress.

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — It is taking some fancy, verbal acrobatics for Republican leaders to perform in both rings of their party's election-year show.

New York GOP chieftains are struggling to keep alive the dim possibility that Gov. Rockefeller might win the Republican presidential nomination.

But they cannot ignore the overwhelming evidence that Vice President Nixon, the only declared candidate, will be the party nominee.

Puzzling Statements

A major cause of the leaders' dilemma undoubtedly is Rockefeller's continuing refusal to endorse Nixon.

But the state's top GOP chiefs also are understandably reluctant to surrender the attractive dream of a Rockefeller presidential victory, of cabinet posts, big jobs and national prominence.

So, some puzzling statements are being made.

L. Judson Morhouse, state Republican chairman, said in a statement last week that Rockefeller should not be ruled out of consideration for the presidency and that the GOP convention should use wisdom in making its choice of a candidate.

A choice between Nixon and whom? Reporters who wanted to question Morhouse for more explicit information on Republican plans were told he had nothing to add to his statement.

Will Rockefeller's name be submitted to the convention in opposition to Nixon: National Committeeman George Hinman, an important Rockefeller adviser, said he knew of no plans to nominate the governor.

Stand Is Questioned

If Nixon is to be unopposed, why does Morhouse urge that the New York delegation "go to the convention, uncommitted, there to make its decision?"

The state chairman declares the Republican party would be in serious danger of losing the election "unless our national ticket this fall is headed by a candidate capable of the appeal that thrusts across and beyond party lines..."

This could mean Morhouse feels Nixon cannot attract enough independent and Democratic voters to win, as Gov. Rockefeller did in gaining his election victory in New York.

But Morhouse also says both Rockefeller and Nixon are "truly forceful and distinguished leaders on the national scene. The Republican Party as a whole, therefore, must look to one or the other of these men as its best hope in 1960."

Look for Sudden Change

Rockefeller repeatedly has declared he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination, but he has not said he would refuse it.

Although Morhouse said later that he did not consult Rockefeller in advance of his statement, it obviosuly was in tune with the governor's views. A state chairman who owes his job to a governor doesn't publicize positions unless they have the boss' blessing.

While the governor now has virtually no chance of defeating Nixon, both he and Morhouse might be looking for a sudden change in what the chairman referred to in his statement as "the fast-unfolding future."

Man Is Indicted In Slaying One of Four in Tavern

OWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Francis J. Watts, 33, of South Waverly has been indicted on a charge of first-degree murder in the death of one of four persons shot in a Waverly tavern.

A Tioga County grand jury Wednesday accused Watts of killing Clem O'Toole, 51, of Waverly, April 16. Since the shooting, Mrs. Vitto Cocco, 49, wife of the tavern owner, has died.

Watts also was indicted on three counts of first-degree assault in the shooting of Mrs. Cocco, Marshall Preston, 34, and Francis Alamo, 53.

Watts is undergoing psychiatric tests.

Police said he entered the tavern and levelled a spray of gunfire down the bar with a hunting rifle.

Meanwhile, Dist. Atty. George Boldman said he would move for the trial of Miss Edna Jane Robbins of Endicott, who was indicted in May, 1957, on a charge of second-degree murder in the death of her new-born baby.

Miss Robbins, then age 18 and of Barton, near Waverly, was accused of killing the baby with a pair of scissors shortly after its birth March 28, 1957. She has been free in $5,000 bail.

In another case, Justice Howard Zeller of State Supreme Court granted a 30-day stay in the trial of Ernest L. Stedge, 27, of Waverly, on charges of second-degree murder and second-degree assault.

Stedge is accused of beating his 2-year-old stepson, Murray Hoose, Jan. 20 and again Feb. 17. The boy died Feb. 26.

Stedge's attorney asked for the stay, pending an appeal to the Appellate Division, third department, for a change of venue.

Teachers Fined $500 Each for Burning Cross

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP) — Four high school teachers who burned a cross on the campus of the State University College of Education here have each been fined $500.

The four pleaded guilty Wednesday to charges of disorderly conduct. Police Justice Robert Halliday suspended one-year jail sentences for each of the four.

Police said Barry J. Wilson, 24, Bruce L. MacDuffie, 23, Frederick M. Williams, 23, all of nearby Norwood, and Albert G. Mitchell, 27, of Potsdam, burned the cross early last Saturday as a prank.

The four taught at the Norwood-Norfolk Central School. Officials of the school could not be reached for comment.

The cross-burning, usually the mark of protest by race-discriminators, occurred shortly after the end of a concert at the university.

A university spokesman said he understood the four made the cross in the Central school, about 7 miles from here, and brought it to the university. A passerby reported the license number of their automobile to police.

The spokesman said the four were not former students at the university.

Woolworth Not Changing Policy Of Lunch Service

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Despite pickets and sit-ins, the F.W. Woolworth Co. will continue a policy of refusing to serve Negroes at lunch counters in the South, company President Robert C. Kirkwood says.

Kirkwood told the annual stock holders meeting Wednesday that Woolworth stores would adhere to a policy of conforming with local custom "established by local people for the conduct of business in their community."

Kirkwood issued the statement after Barbara Broxton, a 20-year-old Negro coed, promised that boycotting and sit-ins would continue and grow unless Woolworth and similar stores opened their lunch counters in the South to all races.

"We Negroes are tried of taking a back seat on discrimination," she said. Miss Broxton, a student at Florida A & M College, recently served 48 days in jail for trespassing when arrested at a Woolworth lunch counter in Tallahassee, Fla.

The coed and 21 other persons picketed the meeting.

Kirkwood, who predicted Woolworth sales would hit the one billion dollar mark in 1960, pointed out that 86 per cent of Woolworth's eating facilities were integrated.

"Dealing as we are with the deep rooted convictions of the people in the South, it is hardly realistic to suppose that any company is influential enough to suddenly change its (the South) thinking on this subject," he said.

Picketing and boycotts against Woolworth stores are "unjustified and misconceived," he contended. "No individual company would find it possible to resolve these entirely local conditions."

Miss Broxton, one of five persons who addressed the meeting to ask for an end to segregated lunch counters, said:

"The colored people will continue to fight and continue to go to jail because we feel we are right in this issue. There will be more sit-ins and more boycotting until integration is won."

Pleads Innocent

BALLSTON SPA, N.Y. (AP) — Milton Baker, 29, of Stillwater, has pleaded innocent to a charge of first-degree manslaughter in the shooting of his father after an argument.

Baker, who was indicted by a Saratoga County Grand Jury Wednesday pleaded innocent when arraigned before Justice Charles M. Hughes of State Supreme Court last night. No bail was set.

Baker shot his father, Charles B. Baker, 52, of Lake Lonely, April 17 outside a general store at Saratoga Lake, State Police reported. Troopers said the men had argued when the father tried to persuade his son to return to his wife.

4,299 Boost Is Noted for North N.Y. Methodists

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP) —The membership of the Northern New York Conference of the Methodist Church has risen from 39,327 to 43,626 in the last 10 years.

The Rev. Paul A. Roy announced the increase Wednesday at the opening of the conference's 86th annual meeting. He said the conference was moving ahead in the fields of building and expansion.

"Nearly every charge reports extensive repairs and additional facilities in either church or parsonage, or both," the Rev. Mr. Roy said, reporting for the Conference's district superintendents.

More than 800 delegates, including pastors, and laymen, are attending the four-day meeting, which ends Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Roy said the Conference had emphasized two area-wide projects this year in honor of Bishop W. Earl Ledden, who will retire next month.

One is the Syracuse-area crusade for total enlistment and the other is a program of higher education relating to the Bishop Ledden professorship at Syracuse University.

Adoptions Gain 10 PC in N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Adoptions through public and private agencies in New York State increased by 10 per cent last year, to 3,112.

The State Social Welfare Department, which announced the figure Wednesday, said this did not include so-called non-agency adoptions, which are placements, supervised by the courts, in which individuals, such as doctors and lawyers, supervise the adoption.

It had no data on the number of non-agency adoptions last year, the department said, but indicated the total might range as high as 6,000.

The department said the total of agency placements was an increase of more than 10 per cent over 1958 and 35 per cent over 1955.

Improvement and expansion of adoption services throughout the state has contributed to the rising number of agency adoptions in recent years, the department reported.

Improved procedures include the pooling of applications for adoption, which enables local agencies to operate on a statewide basis in placing children.

Another inovation, the agency said, was providing adoption specialists to help local welfare departments set up machinery for placing children.

Private agencies also have expanded their services, the department reported.

Last year, private agencies and institutions placed 2,363 children, and public agencies placed 749. Of these, 1,479 were in New York City.

The Welfare Department said that 30,000 children now were being supported by the state in foster homes or institutions.

Death, illness, divorce, separation, desertion or neglect among parents are reasons why children become state charges. Most of the children receiving foster care are returned home when family conditions permit.

LONDON (AP)—British fashion houses won't send a collection to Moscow this year, but not because of the new drop in East-West relations.

"The Russians admire British fashions, but they won't buy them," a trade representative said today. "Our last show in Russia cost 20,000 pounds ($56,000) and we didn't get a penny out of it."

Army Bares Test Of Cold Exposure

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Army is conducting cold chamber tests more rigorous than those faced by Arctic explorers in efforts to determine how much exposure a man can take, how many men can endure it and what food is most conducive to pulling through.

The project was disclosed Wednesday. The tests are being made at Lankenau Hospital's new research center.

Usually two men, between 20 and 30, are placed in a cold chamber at a time, clad only in shorts. They stay there for 10 days without a break — if they can. The temperature is 42 to 45 degrees above zero.

Nurses and doctors watch through windows, alert for behavior changes. Special devices, strapped to the men's bodies, measure heart beats, blood pressure and energy. Four diets are tested.

Can't Count Rock Out Yet, Utah Committee Feels

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller of New York cannot be counted out as a possible presidential candidate, a Utah Republican committeeman maintains.

Jaren L. Jones, who is also vice chairman of the Republican national convention arrangements, said yesterday in regard to possible candidates for the GOP presidential nomination: "It looks like we're back to two."

Vice President Richard Nixon generally is regarded as a sure winner of the nomination. Rockefeller withdrew in December from the race for the nomination.

However, L. Judson Morhouse, Republican state chairman, recently urged the New York governor to keep himself available for the presidential nomination.

Morhouse told newsmen at a party dinner in Auburn Tuesday night that he had had 'very good' reaction from New York Republican leaders to his suggestion. But he said there had been almost no response from outside the state. Nixon also attended the dinner.

Neither Rockefeller nor Morhouse has endorsed Nixon.

Nervous World Faces Uncertain Future as Chiefs Map Strategy

PARIS (AP)—A nervous world faced a dangerously uncertain future today as hostile chiefs of the United States and the Soviet Union turned away from the East-West battle at the summit to plan their strategies for new cold war conflict.

All hope of a quick cooling of tempers and slow rebuilding of polite relations between Washington and Moscow was dead—buried under a new barrage of insults hurled by Nikita Khrushchev at President Eisenhower.

Many Possibilities

To Western diplomats surveying the wreckage of the Big-Four conference and the violence of the Soviet Premier's news conference Wednesday, the future looked ominous.

A breakdown of disarmament negotiations, a new crisis over Berlin, a return to bitter propaganda warfare, a Red China flare-up in the Far East were all regarded as possible.

Eisenhower, who scorned to reply at once to Khrushchev's slashing assault, plans to make a TV-Radio report on the summit disaster to the American people soon after he gets home Friday. He is returning by way of Lisbon, Portugal.

The Soviet Premier arranged his homeward journey to Moscow through East Berlin. The German Communist regime planned a rally for him there Friday, giving him a forum for a new tirade against the United States.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, the last of the visiting government heads to say farewell to French President Charles de Gaulle, reports to the House of Commons Friday on the total failure of his summit policy. He had worked persistently for several years to bring the Big Four together again, as they had met at Geneva in 1955.

Likens Ike to Thief

Macmillan's confident hope was that a meeting at the summit, even without very concrete results, would improve personal relations among the leaders, advance disarmament negotiations, and ease world tensions. He got exactly the opposite result.

Khrushchev Wednesday heaped all blame for the failure on Eisenhower and his refusal to publicly condemn U.S. spy flights over the Soviet Union. In a massive international news conference, punctuated by both boos and cheers, he called Eisenhower an aggressor, a fishy friend, deceitful and likened him to a thief.

While two thousand newsmen watched his televised, spotlighted performance, he thundered in anger, spilled contempt in sarcastic phrases, jabbed his finger at his audience and waved his arms in wrath or seeming triumph.

He threatened to make a separate peace treaty with East Germany. He forecast the Western allies would lose their rights in West Berlin. But he did not set a deadline for a Berlin showdown. He acclaimed the Castro government in Cuba. He predicted more Latin-American countries would rise against "American imperialism."

Presence Significant

Through the spectacle, which ran two hours and 20 minutes with translation from Russian to French and English, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, the Soviet defense minister, sat beside the Premier. Western diplomats thought Malinovsky's constant attendance on Khrushchev during his Paris stay was highly significant: A reminder of Soviet military might and possibly a watchdog sent by Kremlin advocates of a tough policy to see that Khrushchev did not plug his previous peaceful coexistence line even in private talks.

While Khrushchev met the press Eisenhower, Macmillan and De Gaulle met at the Elysee Palace with their foreign ministers and discussed "the international situation now prevailing." They issued no statement.

Man Breaks Tooth In Road Accident

Robert D. Peck, 18, of 35 East Strand, broke a front tooth in a mishap at the junction of the Brigham and Leggs Mill roads, town of Ulster, early this morning.

Trooper William Weidman of the Kingston state police reported that Peck was riding in a car operated by Michael A. Kelly, 17, who was proceeding in a westerly direction on Brigham road.

As Kelly attempted to turn into the Leggs Mill road he failed to negotiate the curve. Time of the mishap was 3:30 a. m.

Senator Steps Up Oregon Campaign

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy stepped up the pace of his campaigning today on the eve of Oregon's Democratic presidential primary.

His only active opponent, Sen. Wayne Morse, said he still thinks he'll pull in 60 per cent of the vote Friday as a favorite son candidate.

Wherever he went Wednesday, Kennedy kept hearing people tell him they thought he could beat Morse. He kept saying he considered that unlikely and a most difficult task.

But after a day of warm receptions where throngs stood in the rain to hear him and to shake his hand, the Massachusetts senator decided on an earlier start today.

Three other senators are on the Democratic ballot — Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, and Stuart Symington of Missouri. Humphrey is out of the presidential race. Johnson and Symington haven't campaigned at all here.

Morse put it up to Oregon Democrats to repudiate Kennedy as an intruder.

However, the New England senator told them not to waste their votes on Morse but to award their 17 delegates to Johnson, Symington or himself.

This is the last major primary contest before the Democrats convene in Los Angeles July 11.

Oregon law binds national convention delegates to the winner of the primary on the first two ballots, unless he receives less than 35 per cent of the convention votes on the first try. In that case, they are released.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is unopposed on the Republican ticket for 18 delegates.

Baptist Men Fete Children; Magic Show Is Featured

Forty-eight members and their children attended the annual children's night program of the First Baptist Men's Club Wednesday night in the church parlors, Albany Avenue at Broadway.

Highlights of the evening was the appearance of Fred Van Deusen, local magician, who delighted the youngsters and their parents, as well, with his bag of tricks.

The local sleight of hand artist was introduced by Albert O. Sonnenberg, acting chairman of the program committee.

James L. Decker, president of the organization, welcomed the guests and members. The Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, pastor of the church, pronounced the invocation.

The final meeting of the Men's Club for the season is scheduled Wednesday, June 29, when the annual outing will be held in the upper section of Hasbrouck Park.

During the business meeting that night new officers will be elected for the 1960-61 year.

The nominating committee, named last night by President Decker, includes all past presidents — William H. Williams, Billy Smallwood, Norman Bowen, Albert O. Sonnenberg and William W. Brady Jr.

Unmarked Grave

Only signer of the Declaration of Independence to be buried in Manhattan is Francis Lewis, who lies in an unmarked grave in Trinity churchyard at Wall Street and Broadway.

AllenDefendsNew Education Site

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. defended his department's starkly modern new building today as symbolic of education's need to be adaptable in changing times.

The commissioner, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson and other governmental and academic leaders dedicate the gleaming, white marble-and-glass structure today.

The five-million-dollar building is a 10-story structure of severe, straight lines. Its ground floor has wide expanses of glass and black marble.

Joins Old Building

This contemporary building was joined to the 48-year-old main building of the Education Department, a long, low structure of Roman classical design. Its most prominent feature is the 36 Corinthian pillars that extend across its face and two sides.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the dedication (2:30 p. m.), Allen said that the two buildings combined "traditional and modern architecture in dramatic contrast."

He noted, however, that "some have deplored so radical a difference in style."

But, the commissioner said, "for me, the juxtaposition of the old and the new is significant and challenging.

"It epitomizes education rooted firmly and solidly in tradition, but growing, responsive and adaptable to changing needs and times."

Relieves Overcrowding

The wing was built to relieve overcrowding in the old building and to allow the department to centralize operations now scattered in seven rented offices in downtown Albany.

The 90th convocation of the State Board of Regents will be held tonight in connection with the dedication. Also underway here is the annual meeting of the School Boards of the Northeastern States.

Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University, will be principal speaker at the convocation. He will be awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

The theme of the convocation is "World Dimensions For American Education."

Members of the school boards' organization will hold a series of discussions on world understanding. The talks will deal with languages, sciences, television and cultural exchange.

Adventists Plan Special Service

Members of the Kingston Seventh-day Aventist Church will commemorate the 10th anniversary of Faith For Today, the denomination's weekly telecast, Saturday, March 21, in a special ceremony.

The local church members, who helped to sponsor the program with a yearly offering, will hear a brief history of the enterprise during the ceremony presided over by the Rev. Eric R. Norman, pastor. They will also learn how funds contributed by the local congregation have been used and the results produced.

Faith for Today began on May 21, 1950, on one television station in New York City as an experiment. Today it is on more than 140 stations throughout North America, Puerto Rico, Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, the Philippines, Australia and the Air Force TV network. It is the oldest denominationally-sponsored religious telecast on the air.

In addition to presenting a weekly program, Faith for Today operates an extensive Bible Correspondence School which has more than one million applications. In 1959 there were 10,000 graduates from the Bible School, which offers six courses designed to increase study of the Bible.

The program can be seen locally on WRGB channel 6 at 9:30 a. m., Sunday mornings.

Gromyko to UN To Push Soviet Charges on Spy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is due here Friday night to take personal command in pressing Soviet charges on American spy flights over the Soviet Union.

Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev told newsmen today that Gromyko sent advance word of his arrival from Paris. The Soviet ambassador said the Soviet Union would submit a resolution at the first meeting of the Security Council.

Demands Action

In requesting the meeting, Gromyko demanded that the 11-nation council take measures to stop the spy flights. He cabled the request from Paris Wednesday night after the summit conference broke down. The dour Communist diplomat is a veteran of cold war wrangling at the U.N.

The Russians charged the U.S. Air Force with aggressive flights against the Soviet Union, creating a threat to universal peace.

Sobolev met today with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskiold and said his delegation had not yet set a specific date for the council session. But in any event the Russians got the jump on a U.S. proposal for international aerial inspection against surprise attack.

Sir Claude Corea of Ceylon, council president for May, told a newsman he would decide today when to schedule the meeting.

A council delegate said the Soviets wanted the meeting Friday or Saturday, obviously to hold the propaganda stage without competition from the open skies proposal President Eisenhower said the United States would submit to the U.N. But it appeared unlikely a meeting would be arranged before Monday.

The U.S. delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge, planned to go to Washington for weekend consultations with the President and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Seven Votes Doubtful

Sources in a position to know said the United States made no effort to beat the Soviet Union to the punch before the U.N. These sources said the United States wants to avoid any spirit of altercation.

Diplomats at the U.N. privately expressed doubt that the Soviet Union could get the seven votes needed to push a resolution condemning the United States through the council. Only Poland is expected to join the Soviets in voting for the resolution. There was speculation the other nine members would either vote against it or abstain. These nine are Britain, France, Nationalist China, Argentina, Ceylon, Ecuador, Italy, Tunisia and the United States.

In turn the Soviet Union seems sure to veto any U.S. proposal for aerial inspection. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev rejected the proposal during the abortive summit conference in Paris.

Speakers Talk To Area Chamber On Varied Subjects

John W. Egbert, speaking about member participation at the orientation meeting conducted by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday night, pointed out graphically that half of the word satisfaction is composed of action. He explained how the new members could become active.

Edward F. Smith, a staff member of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce in Albany spoke about the importance of local Chambers of Commerce in supporting laws which would create more jobs for workers by improving the business climate.

Richard M. Kalish, chairman of the Community College Committee of the local Chamber, reported briefly on the history of the movement to establish a two-year college in Ulster County and urged those present to contact their town and ward supervisor. Kalish pointed out that many good students, desirous of continuing their education after high school, find it impossible because of the high costs. A community college would make the first two years of college training available at a cost of about $300 a year or less.

Chamber President Norman L. McLeod who president pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce functions through 15 to 20 standing and special committees. These recommended action to a board of 21 elected directors. He pointed out that there are a large number of problems and needs which could be acted upon if more members would work on committees and push for their consideration.

President McLeod also announced the names of the following committee chairmen for the 1960-61 fiscal year: Business methods, Joseph Scholar Jr.; city and county legislative affairs, Hugh R. Elwyn; conventions and visitors, Ronald G. Drowns; education, Merrill Lynch Jr.; industrial development, Harold H. Heider; membership, William R. Stall; national legislative affairs, Clifford C. Henze; parks and recreation, N. Jansen Fowler. There are still several other appointments to be made.

Coffee and sandwiches were served during a period of fellowship after the business meeting. Another open membership meeting in the early fall was unanimously favored.

Mombaccus Boy Hurt, Ran Into Side of Vehicle

A 12-year-old Mombaccus boy who darted into the side of a foreign sports car in front of the Federated Church of Kerhonkson Wednesday evening suffered a sprained ankle and a painful cut on the back of his head.

Walter Friedlander, son of Abraham Friedlander, was reportedly playing in front of the church with a group of friends following a Boy Scout meeting.

Trooper William Brennan of the Ellenville state police reported that he ran from the sidewalk into the side of a 1958 Renault operated by Leonard Pomerantz of Kerhonkson.

Pomerantz was proceeding east on Main Street at the time of the mishap—about 9:30 p. m.

Young Friedlander was treated at the scene by Dr. Alfred M. Feldshuh of Kerhonkson and then taken to the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, by H. B. Humiston Ambulance.

Couple to Face Jury in Theft At Poughkeepsie

Accused of participating in a daring $2,000 fur burglary at a Poughkeepsie store last Feb. 28, two defendants were ordered held for Dutchess County grand jury action Wednesday after a preliminary hearing in City court.

They are John Anthony Shabinian, 35, and his wife, Lillian, 24, formerly of Providence, R. I. A third defendant, Louis M. Grieco, 30, of Providence, previously was ordered held for the grand jury after hearing before Judge Charles O'Donnell.

The trio, and another defendant, who is being sought, are accused of the daylight burglary at Frank's Fur Shop, 20 Liberty Street.

Judge O'Donnell fixed bail of $20,000 in the case of each defendant. Assistant District Attorney John Heilman told the judge that under Section 552 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, he had no authority to admit Shahinian to bail because the defendant has a prior felony conviction.

Would Censure Industrialists for Soviet Dealings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn) called in a Senate speech today for prosecution of Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland, Ohio industrialist, for his dealings with the Soviet Union.

Dodd said Eaton flew to Paris to talk with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev after the collapse of the summit conference.

"Eaton has violated the Logan Act and ought to be prosecuted for it," Dodd declared.

The Logan Act forbids private citizens from negotiating with foreign powers with intent to influence U.S. policy. It provides penalties up to three years imprisonment.

Eaton, 76, arrived in Paris today shortly before Khrushchev departed. They talked for about 15 minutes at the airport.

Afterward, Eaton said Khrushchev had expressed confidence that "eventually both his country and mine would reach a position of understanding and friendship."

Eaton also quoted Khrushchev as saying he wished all capitalists "had my point of view."

Eaton has long been a critic of some aspects of U.S. policy and has declared that Americans need to reappraise themselves and their systems of philosophy and government. He has repeatedly called for better understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union.

On May 3, the Soviets awarded Eaton their Lenin Peace Prize.

Eaton's acquaintance with the Soviet Premier began in 1958 when Eaton visited Moscow.

Two Shot in Ambush

MANILA (AP)—Two U. S. Navy officers were shot and wounded early today in what appeared to be a highway ambush in Zambales Province, northwest of Manila.

A Navy spokesman said Ens. Daniel A. Elandt, 23, of Kaukaunan Wis. and Lt. (J.G.) Charles A. Webster, 24, of Minneapolis, Minn. were hit. A bullet ripped into the back of the car, pierced Elandt's foot, went through the front seat and shattered Webster's shinbone.

Elandt, Webster and three other officers assigned to a communications base at San Miguel were enroute to the big U. S. Navy Base at Subic Bay, 10 miles away. The shooting took place at the village of San Antonio.

Veterans Advised To Watch Dates of Grievance Days

Home owning veterans should mark their calendars as a reminder of Grievance Day in their particular locality, according to Charles L. Culver, state veterans councelor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency.

Veterans must act on or before that day in order to take advantage of the State law granting tax exemption for real property purchased with eligible funds. They would do well to establish the amount of their exemptions as soon as possible, they added.

Veterans who desire to take advantage of this benefit afforded them by New York State must file a "verified" application with the local assessor on or before Grievance Day in the particular locality where the property is located.

The exemption does not apply to school taxes or to levies made by special districts (some seriously disabled veterans may be permitted special exemptions). Otherwise, all state, city, town and village taxes are exempt.

However, Culver and Tyler pointed out that there are various restrictions and limitations to the amount a veteran can claim as exempt and to the type of funds which are eligible for application to the exemption.

Unless the veteran has already established the amount of exemption to which he is entitled, contact is invited by the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office as soon as possible in order to check eligibility, procedure and limitations under the law. The address is 32 Main Street, Kingston, and branch offices are located in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

States Refunds $50 Million in Personal Taxes

Personal income tax refund payments on 1959 returns have passed the $50 million mark and that by the time all State tax refunds have been paid, between $75 and $80 million will have been refunded, according to State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy.

Refund payments totalling $51,736,335.09 had been made to 1,976,176 State income taxpayers as of noon Tuesday.

"In addition to the refund payments already made," Commissioner Murphy said, "an additional 600,000 returns claiming refunds are being processed in the data processing 'pipeline' in Schenectady and North Albany. Nearly 500,000 more are undergoing preliminary examination in the 10 district tax offices."

More than a year ago, the Department of Taxation and Finance predicted that more than three million refunds would be made and that refund payments, due taxpayers who had had more than the actual amount of their State income tax withheld from wages, would top $50 million.

Murphy said, "When we made our estimates of the number of refunds and their total dollar value, we thought the average refund would be about $16. Instead, payments have consistently remained above $20. The average refund payment today is $26.18 and there is no indication it will drop appreciably."

Lt. Gov. Holds Economic Growth Is Vital to U.S.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson said today that economic growth, with resulting job opportunities, "is absolutely essential to the United States in order to satisfy all our needs."

Wilson, who spoke at a luncheon after groundbreaking for a General Electric laboratory, said "economic growth is equally essential to the free world, so as to underwrite freedom with material plenty."

The laboratory, to be built at a cost of $3,500,000, is the biggest GE construction investment in Schenectady since 1955.

"Our administration in Albany," Wilson said, "has successfully undertaken major strides to create a better business climate in New York State and to spur economic growth." He added:

"We regard it as a matter of greatest importance that all regions of New York, and particularly regions that have the wealth of skills and talents the Schenectady area has, attain the prosperity they deserve as rapidly as possible."

He noted that the Schenectady area had been one of high unemployment in recent years.

Julia Ward Howe first suggested a Mother's Day in the United States in 1872.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Rod Serling's grim drama about the horror that was the Warsaw ghetto during the German occupation of Poland came to television Wednesday night doubled in impact by events in Paris earlier in the day and week.

About an hour after the CBS Playhouse 90 production of "In The Presence of Mine Enemies," came to its bleak conclusion, the network (and rival NBC, too) was taken over by an unedited picture account of Nikita Khrushchev's long threatening diatribe.

The Serling play was concerned with brutal German army treatment of Polish Jews. It pulled no punches reconstructing the tragedy that took place in the 100-block square, walled compound where 500,000 Jews hungered and suffered until the uprising that killed all but a few.

The story concerened a gentle rabbi who lost and then found his faith in spite of an embittered, savage son and a daughter coldly ravaged by a Jew-hating Prussian officer.

The play carried its bitter lesson. It was well acted by a cast which included Charles Laughton, Arthur Kennedy and Susan Kohner. But I would have been watching some situation comedy if I had not been a TV reviewer.

Recommended tonight: "the Gambler, the Nun and the Radio," CBS, 9:30-11 (Eastern Daylight time)—adaptation of Ernest Hemingway's tale about a bored hospital patient.

'Printers' Devils'

When printing was introduced it was associated with black magic because of the uniformity of printed words as compared with manuscripts. This mystery caused printers to call their helpers, blackened with ink, evil spirits or devils, hence the term of "printer's devil."

'Chester' Leaving Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mister Dillon will have another sidekick after next season another sidekick smoke" TV series. Chester is quitting.

"I'm very fond of Chester, but I've gone about as far as I can go with him in development," said Dennis Weaver, who plays Marshal Dillon's assistant. He told CBS Wednesday that he'll look for his own show when his 6-year contract expires after the 1960-61 season.

Johnson to Open Drive Next Week For Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination will swing into high gear with the opening here probably next week of a "Citizens for Johnson" headquarters.

Shortly thereafter, the Texas senator is expected to make a formal announcement of his candidacy. That may come shortly after the last of the state presidential primaries early in June.

Although obviously an aspirant, Johnson has avoided any announcement of his political plans and has stayed out of state primaries. He has said his duties as Senate Democratic leader require his attention.

Johnson's backers believe they can pick up enough pledged delegates between now and the start of the Los Angeles convention on July 11 to assure the Texan "considerably over" 400 votes on the first ballot.

For Want of Bid a Hand Is Lost

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you have ever gone to the races, you may have heard the cry over the loudspeaker of:

"Hurry, hurry, don't get shut out!"

Of course, if you get shut out of a horse bet you probably have saved money, but when you get shut out of the bidding you nearly always wind up a loser.

West's opening diamond bid was a minimum, but he held a good six-card suit. Hence, after East responded one heart and South bid a spade West should have bid two diamonds right away but made the mistake of passing.

He never recovered. North raised to three spades. East wanted to do something with his good hand, but a raise to four diamonds with only three trumps or a rebid to four hearts was too rich for his blood. He passed and South went on to four spades.

The hand wasn't a total loss since West opened his singleton heart and three aces and the heart ruffe defeated the spade game.

Now let's see what would have happened if West had bid two diamonds. North would still have gone to three spades, but East would have tried four diamonds and the chances are that West would have gone on to game.

He would have had no trouble with the contract. In fact, if he guessed the queen of clubs he would make six.

Javits Feels U. N. Must Take Lead in Seeking Real Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) feels Russian Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's descent from the summit deserves strong condemnation by world public opinion.

It now is up to the United Nations, Javits said Wednesday, to take the lead in seeking peace. Khrushchev's walkout in Paris "will demand a high degree of fortitude from the people of the United States and the free world, Javits said. He added:

"Greater challenges than we have ever faced calling for greater sacrifices than we have ever had to make may confront us soon, but the unity and the morale of the free world will be decisive."

Rep. William E. Miller (R-NY), chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, in a separate statement, said President Eisenhower should demand an apology from Khrushchev for every Russian spy caught in the United States since World War II.

Miller described Khrushchev's indignation over the downing of an American U2 airplane inside Russia as "transparently manufactured opportunism." He added:

"If Khrushchev is going to stick with his patently ridiculous idea that President Eisenhower should apologize for the U2 incident then we should also demand an apology from him for each Soviet agent we have nabbed for spying in this country."

At least 10 Russian spies have been captured in the United States since World War II, he said.

Physical Fitness

historian, stated recently that of the 21 great civilizations in the history of mankind, 19 of them were destroyed not by the armed strength of attacking enemies, but by the moral and physical decay from within. Let's not forget that it is our job to bring up our young men and women to be human beings, not mechanized robots.

I tell our cadets over and over again, he said, that mental strength and intelligence are essential for any army officer. It is vital they know well their military tactics and strategy, but the greatest tactician in the world is of no use to his men if he doesn't have the physical strength and moral fibre to lead them on the battlefield.

And the same is true of every citizen in the United States. If our schools do not provide the opportunity for our young people to develop the physical fitness and moral courage needed to meet the challenges which are facing us, this great nation of ours cannot hope to survive.

What better means do we have at our disposal to develop this fitness and moral fiber in our young people than the athletic fields and gymnasia of our schools.

Athletic Re-Emphasis

Let us not speak of athletic de-emphasizing unless we wish to de-emphasize the total educational structure, for athletics are and can be a vital integral part of education. Instead, let us further the issue of athletic re-emphasis, the employment of educational procedures for the organization and conduct of our athletic sports and games to insure the most wholesome conditions for the participation of the youth of today and of tomorrow.

Over the door of our cadet gymnasium, he said, are inscribed these words — On the fields of friendly strife are sown the seeds that on other fields, on other days, will bear the fruits of victory. The word victory applies not only to war but to life itself. The lessons learned on the athletic field will remain long after the last inning is completed.

Other observations by the Colonel included the following:

Tremendous Potential

Athletics and physical education activities under proper leadership have tremendous potential for the development and moral fibre in our young people. It is a recognized fact that the worth of any activity for character development depends upon the nature and intensity of the emotions it arouses and the standards which control the expression of these emotions. Because athletic activities involve the deepest and most powerful of human emotions, they are of exceptional value from the character development standpoint.

In addition they appeal strongly to boys and elicit their energetic, enthusiastic participation. Of all the experiences which boys undergo, none possesses more opportunities for the building of desirable character qualities. Athletics are an integral part of a boy's educational experience, not just a diversification or a safety valve for excess energy.

Athletics offer the boy the chance to meet the challenge of his own inadequacy face to face and do something about it as no other activity does. They give him the spirit of adventure, the opportunity to dare.

Athletics is a natural outlet for the competitive instinct and guided play becomes a way of learning about life.

Respecting Others Rights

Respect for the rights of others is impressed on him through the rules that he expects to obey and expects his teammates to obey. He must get along with his own side, but he must also guard the rights of the other side, as he will expect the other to guard his.

Athletics serve to relieve his tensions and aggressive instincts. Team spirit gives him the sense of place and importance that every human being needs.

In athletics a boy learns the importance of individual merit. And he gains the abiding knowledge that fair play is a two-way street. The weeds of racial discrimination and intolerance do not flourish on a field where a ball game is in progress.

A serious organized, widely shared program of athletics offers certain obvious pitfalls. There is the danger of too much emphasis being placed on winning. But this can be counterbalanced by a healthy atmosphere. The wise leadership and encouragement of a thoughtful parent and honorable coaches, and perhaps, most of all, by a belief in the game for the game's sake and not for its rewards.

I must point out that all the emphasis on fair play can easily be nullified by shady practices condoned by parents and coaches. We cannot be too happy about the modern tendency to resort to anything in order to win.

In programs of athletics, we have a tremendous opportunity to teach these young men to choose the harder right instead of the easier wrong, to help them along the road toward growing into men of high morals and strong character. Ours is a great challenge, a tremendous responsibility and if we fail, we, as a nation will fail.

The speaker was introduced by Frederic Snyder, who pointed out the colonel's military and athletic record. He graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1939 and served with the famed 15th Infantry of the 3rd Infantry Division from platoon leader to battalion commander in North Africa and Sicily in World War 2. He was assistant football coach at West Point and a letterman in football, basketball and track. Presently he also is a member of Commissioner Allen's Committee to recommend an effective program of physical education for the schools of New York State.

(Morgan Davis & Co.)

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned mixed in fairly active trading early this afternoon as interest shifted away from some of the space age defense issues.

Traders began to switch back to stocks with more peaceful interests. Motors turned active and mostly higher. Some chemicals, oils, vending, photographic stocks and selected issues made gains.

Missile makers, aircrafts, electronics and rocket stocks turned irregular. The professionals were apparently convinced that the collapse of the summit conference has temporarily had its peak effect on stocks which stand to gain by an intensified cold war.

Merger reports helped beef up the rail average while steels backed away from recent sharp gains, trending slightly lower.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule for most key stocks.

Baltimore & Ohio, Nickel Plate and New York Central rose around a point each.

NixonBidsWest Show Stamina To Resist Reds

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The case of a Soviet employe of the United Nations secretariat, caught spying at the time of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the U.S. last year, was handled efficiently and without an international uproar, says Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon contrasts the incident, reported officially for the first time Wednesday, with Khrushchev's use of the U2 spy plane incident to scuttle the summit conference in Paris.

Despite the apparent possibility of a return of the East-West cold war, however, Nixon declared that he doubted Khrushchev would resort to force.

"He believes he can gain his objective of world domination without war," the vice president declared in a speech at a sales executives' convention.

Nixon said the Western nations must prove they have the stamina to resist.

The revelation of the Soviet spy case enlivened the wind-up of the vice president's upstate New York tour. It took Nixon almost the entire day, in fact, to fill in the details of the incident, which ended last January with the expulsion of the Soviet U.N. employe. He was identified at U.N. headquarters as Vadim A. Kirilyuk, a former political affairs officer in the territorial research and analysis section of the trusteeship division.

At first Nixon said that two members of the Soviet U.N delegation had been caught spying in Illinois at the very time Khrushchev was addressing the U.N. in New York. Later, an aide said Nixon meant to say the incident was in Springfield, Mass.

Then Nixon confirmed that the pair actually had not been arrested. Later, at a news conference, he said one, a U.N. secretariat employe, had been sent home after an investigation by Dag Hammarskjold, U.N. secretary-general.

Another had not been directly involved and is still in this country, said Nixon. An American from whom the pair sought highly classified information at Springfield is in the clear, the vice president said.

Material Handling Unit Meets Thursday

Mid-Hudson Chapter of American Material Handling Society, Inc., will hold its dinner meeting Thursday 6 p. m. at Mirabel Restaurant, Poughkeepsie.

The program will include a tour of International Business Machines Corp., Poughkeepsie plant.

Deadline for reservations is May 24.

Peaceful . . .

he would attend another summit meeting if the United States "clears away the obstacles which prevented the present conference from going ahead." This was a reference to his demand for an apology from President Eisenhower for the U2 incident.

In his arrival speech in East Berlin, Khrushchev did not repeat his demand that the United States apologize for the U2 incident. It was too soon to deduce whether this means any change in Russian policy.

His speech was without any threats. It was as if he was being extremely careful not to stir fears among the Berlin population.

More likely 6th graf 1st lead 150.

More likely, the Communist rulers may decide to hold off on a peace treaty, but create difficulties for West Berlin, isolated 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Khrushchev's plane was careful to avoid flying over Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West Germany. It flew from Paris via Copenhagen.

Marshal There Again

At the airfield, Khrushchev emerged first from the plane, followed by his defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky.

Communist party headquarters set up a mammoth reception for the Soviet leader. Red flags and slogans decorated the streets.

But plans for Khrushchev to address a mass meeting in East Berlin's central square soon after his arrival were changed. The official East German radio announced Wednesday night he would speak instead indoors on Friday afternoon.

Some 250,000 persons might have been crowded into the Marx-Engels Platz for Khrushchev's first speech since the collapse of the summit conference. The Werner Seelenbinder Hall where he will speak holds only about 5,000

No Reason for Change

No reason was given for the change.

Presumably Khrushchev's main business in East Berlin will be to discuss his future strategy on Germar issues with the Communist Party boss, Walter Ulbricht, and Premier Otto Grotewohl.

There was still no expectation the Soviet Premier and the East German Red leaders would sign the World War II peace treaty between the Soviet Union and the East German government which Khrushchev so often has threatened. But the general belief that any peace treaty would be preceded by a peace conference of Communist nations was put in doubt by Khrushchev's remarks at his news conference in Paris Wednesday.

Draft Is Prepared

The Soviet Premier said the peace treaty draft had been prepared and would be signed "when we consider the time to be right."

"We will sit down and sign the peace treaty and then announce it to the world," he declared.

Khrushchev made clear at the news conference that his aim to drive the Western allies out of West Berlin has not changed since he first raised the issue in November, 1958.

An Associated Press story from Albany concerning the tentative rate changes said:

The full-valuation totals are used in determining a community's need of state aid for education and other forms of state aid.

The rates provide a uniform base for determining the relative wealth of the state's communities and their ability to obtain tax revenues for schools.

The new rates are based on the average market value of property in the years 1952 through 1957. Previous rates were based on the years 1949-52.

The board has launched a continuing survey of property values and a full survey will be completed every two, instead of every five, years.

five years.

Tentative lower rates were set yesterday for 37 cities. Rates for 16 cities, also lower, were set earlier. Rates in 24 towns were raised and there was no change in 15.

Still to be set are rates for nine cities and 257 towns.

In computing education aid for school districts, the state uses the rates for the town in which the district is situated. A pro-rated formula is used for districts that span town lines.

These were among the tentative city rates announced Wednesday, with the 1959 tentative rate first and the 1958 rate second:

Cohoes 41-46; Watervliet, 42-49; Binghamton 48-55; Olean 37-45; Salamanca 72-74; Auburn 50-56; Dunkirk 46-55; Elmira 35-40; Norwich 38-45; Hudson 37-38; Cortland 96-104; Beacon 46-51; Poughkeepsie 43-48; Johnstown 37-44; Batavia 44-45; Oneida 56-66; Lockport 46-54; Niagara Falls 38-46; Sherrill 24-28; Utica 55-62; Syracuse 48-56; Canandaigua 48-54; Geneva 48-52; Port Jervis 42-48; Fulton 33-39; Oneonta 48-53; Rensselaer 48-56; Mechanicville 31-33; Saratoga Springs 57-61; Kingston 35-42; Peekskill 53-59.

Proposal Killed

proposal followed by action. He suggested as a first step that the Town Council and the Poughkeepsie City Common Council each appoint business and community leaders to a committee, which would study the proposed merger.

Town Supervisor Thomas D. Mahar stated emphatically that he was opposed to anything involving consolidation of the city and town. He stated he would not be opposed to certain joint operations such as water supply and sewers between the two communities if each community had an equal voice.

Other members of the Town board voiced vigorous opposition to Brannigan's proposal for the merger, and after long, spirited discussion, the matter was dropped.

Decision Upheld

after Kelly got the land he transferred it to Snyder, acting for the cement company, which moved in equipment and is milling and extracting valuable cement from the property.

Philip Korn of Kerhonkson is attorney for Jansen. N. LeVan Haver and John E. Egan of Kingston are counsel for the defendants.

The unanimous decision of the Appellate Division denying application to dismiss the complaint says in part: "Appellants cite authority that mere silence in the face of special knowledge is not enough alone to constitute fraud;

"That a false statement as to the purpose of acquiring the property is not enough alone.

"And that a false statement as to the value is not enough alone.

"However, under the special circumstances alleged here, and taking all of the allegations together and reading the complaint as a whole, we think a cause of action in fraud is started.

"Plaintiff . . . . without special skill or expert knowledge in a specialized field, could not ascertain, the exact value by reason of underground deposits . . . . Armed with a purposely acquired special knowledge, defendants are alleged not only to have remained silent for the intentional purpose of deceiving plaintiff, but in connection with that silence are alleged to have spoken fase representations.

"This is the equivalent of active intentional concealment, quite different from mere silence."

Elderly Couple Consider Switch

Q. "My wife and I are in our late 60's and have no family. I could sell all my industrial shares and re-invest in bonds and preferreds to yield an average of 4½ per cent, which I am now getting from my industrials. Would you advise a switch?" G.W.

A. I'm afraid that I will sound cold-blooded if I say to you that the answer depends on your life expectancies. If either or both of you have a reasonable expectation of living another 10 or 15 years, I would say don't do it. I know the switch is tempting. You would gain in security and might be subject to less price fluctuation. On the other hand, most corporate bonds are callable, usually at a price very close to where they are selling. They are rarely called except when bond prices are up and re-investment would bring lower income. Preferred stocks, even if they are non-callable, are subject to some fluctuation on money rates. Both bonds and preferreds, being fixed-income securities, give you absolutely no protection against inflation. I'm assuming that the issues you hold are good ones. I should hate to see you divest yourselves of any possibility of growth, which is protection against a seemingly inevitable decline in the purchasing power of the dollar.

Q I own Burroughs and Curtiss-Wright, both of which show me losses. Do you advise me to double up on them?" S.B.

A. I advise you not to double up, or average down your losses, except in rare instances. Too much of this is done on wishful thinking and simply compounds a loss, as I found to my sorrow when I was younger. I don't look for any early major recovery in Burroughs or Curtiss-Wright and would not add to my holdings in these situations.

my colleagues that, because of our inability to convene the summit conference, we could make no progress for easing the tensions which so plague mankind," he said in a statement at Paris' Orly Airport.

"But I fully share their confidence that because of this setback, we of the Western Allies, and particularly France, Britain and the United States, both through their governments and through their people, are joined even closer than before in determined pursuit of peace with justice in the world."

Eisenhower's state visit to Portugal kept a date he had made before he set off from Washington for the heads of government conference in Paris. He had originally expected to make the visit Monday and Tuesday, but the summit collapse advanced the schedule.

proceeding is illegally brought; that the petition is not verified and that Special Presecutor Tompkins has no jurisdiction to proceed under the civil statute, that his jurisdiction is limited to criminal matters.

Egan will argue that only the district attorney of the county or a citizen of the Town of Marbletown can bring proceedings under the provisions of Section 36 of the Public Officers Law to have a town officer removed. It will also be argued that the special prosecutor seeks by Civil Law to remove a public officer against whom allegations coming under the Criminal Law have been alleged.

townships will be released only at the request of the town supervisors. He noted his office is permitted only to release figures in townships with populations of 10,000 or more.

Decrease in Poughkeepsie

Two communities in Dutchess County nearly doubled the 1950 population figures. A decrease of 2,675 is reported for the City of Poughkeepsie, from 41,023 in 1950 to 38,348 this year.

The Towns of Pleasant Valley and Wappinger nearly doubled the population in 10 years. Wappinger missed being a first class town by 463 persons, tallying 9,537, an increase of 4,447 persons since 1950. Pleasant Valley gained 1,279 persons, from 2,751 in 1950 to 4,030 this year.

Families Move Out

An exodus of young couples, some with children, from the City of Poughkeepsie into suburban communities or elsewhere, was reported to be a major factor accounting for the drop in population in the city.

A study of the preliminary reports shows a larger number of elderly couples and single persons among Poughkeepsie's inhabitants than the census of 1950, Vacca noted.

In Poughkeepsie as a whole, excluding the developing South side section, many of the 40 districts showed an average loss of as many as 100 persons compared with the 1950 census.

Two Actions Are Continued Today

Two negligence actions, being jointly tried in Supreme Court before Justice Kenneth MacAffer and a jury, were continued today. The actions are brought by Ruth Lydia Nelan and another against Hilliard Goldman and another and Joseph H. Clark, contractor, who was engaged in work at the Thieves Market site where the accident took place in December 1957.

Plaintiffs are represented by Schick and Klein and defendant Clark by Arthur B. Ewig and Goldman by Donald H. McCann. Plaintiff alleges the accident was caused by an icy spot on the premises which caused plaintiff's car to skid.

Shokan

SHOKAN — Mr. and Mrs. John Pach, Belleville, N. J., couple who spent the weekend at their place in the Mt. Tremper area, were in town Sunday. Mrs. Pach is sister of Matthew Hasbrouck who also has a summer home in the Town of Shandaken.

Hasbrouck Davis, High Falls resident and one of the oldest employes at Lake Mohonk in point of service, was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country Sunday.

Wilson Schnell, Oaktree Lane, Levittown, was a recent caller at the free museum in the village center.

Peter Roselen, East 9th Street, Clifton, N. J., was a Shokan caller recently.

Work is continuing on the speedway park where race track offices and grandstands are under construction.

Mrs. Baptiste Nadal, formerly a resident of the Coons District of Shokan, is reported ill in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Downie are again greeting local friends following a California sojourn of several months.

Leonard Guglielmo, Park Avenue, River Edge, N. J., paid a weekend visit to the one time Charles Rodriguez, or Daniel Sampson farm where he and his family used to spend their summer vacations. He reports that Charles Rodriguez Sr. who once farmed the mountain property, is in good health.

One of the new homes along the Ridge Road here is being built by John Schmidt of the west side of the reservoir.

Gra-Y Officers Elected for '60

Officers of the Alpha Gra-Y have been elected for 1960-61. They are, Howard Bodie, president; Charles Kerzendorfer, vice president; Burton Bodie, secretary; Santo Perry, treasurer; Michael Felice, chaplain, and Steven Bentley, sergeant-at-arms.

The Gra-Y club is for grade school boys ages eight years to 11 years who are interested in doing activities as a club group, such as service projects, both in the YMCA and to other worthy causes outside.

Gra-Y is a national movement with thousands of clubs throughout the nation. The Kingston Gra-Y is affiliated with this movement. Boys who join Gra-Y clubs are full fledged members of the YMCA. In addition to enjoying regular meetings with their own groups, these youngsters may take part in the "Y's" total program of sports, swimming and skill instructions.

All activities are organized under capable supervision and in the traditionally fine manner for which the YMCA is well known. In all cases Gra-Y clubs are friendship groups. Members of a club may go to the same school, or play together or live in the same neighborhood.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans planning a trip to Canada can get more Canadian money in exchange for their American dollars today than winter sports fans could two months ago.

The value of the Canadian dollar in terms of the U.S. dollar is now lower than at any time in more than a year.

Smaller Premium Now

American tourists will still have to pay a premium, but a smaller one.

American exporters may find their Canadian rivals in a better competitive position to sell in world markets than when the Canadian dollar was riding as high as $1.06 in comparison to the U. S. dollar. Today it is about two cents above the U. S. dollar. On big deals the difference is considerable.

The recent crackdown by Canadians on American coins loses much of its point, too.

A month ago big Canadian banks ordered a 6 per cent charge for handling U.S. coins. Before that they had circulated at par with Canadian silver, thus ignoring the fluctuating penalty on American paper money.

Why did the Canadian dollar climb so much higher than the U.S. dollar? And how did it come to fall in recent weeks?

Two Main Factors

The reason the Canadian dollar rose to its peak of more than $1.06 in the summer of 1957—and was quoted at $1.05 as late as March of this year—was largely because of two things. One was a great demand for Canadian dollars by foreign investors, mostly Americans, pouring money into Canadian stocks and other investments. The other was a big demand by Canadians borrowing heavily here at lower interest rates than in their country, and having to change these American dollars into Canadian.

The reason for the turn-around is that the Canadian government began discouraging borrowing in the United States; interest rates fell north of the border while they were rising here; the big rush to buy Canadian stocks and to invest in Canadian resources slackened; and the Canadian government cut down its own borrowing, making more funds available at home for private Canadian borrowers and less need to seek funds here.

Newell Presents Challenge for Troy Methodists

GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—The Troy Conference of the Methodist Church, challenged by a bishop and a professor to provide "a new kind of leadership in society," began its business sessions today.

Bishop Frederick B. Newell and Dr. Paul Maves, professor of religion at Drew University, delivered the challenge at a dinner that opened the 128th annual meeting of the conference Wednesday night.

They said "a new kind of leadership in society, the community and for their congregations" was necessary "to meet the needs of a changing world."

Dr. Maves said both congregations and ministers were confused as to what was expected of ministers.

Bishop Newell urged the conference to give more thought to what the church is and where it is going.

He expressed concern over what some theological seminaries were producing. They should provide, he said, "a little more indoctrination of Methodist ways."

The bishop deplored what he said was the trend among trained theologians of giving up preaching ing to become teachers and the accompanying boasts of some as to the number of books they produced.

The five-day meeting, which ends Sunday, has a registration of 730 ministers and lay delegates.

The conference, which embraces Northeastern New York, all of Vermont and seven churches in Western Massachusetts, has four districts, Albany, Troy, Glens Falls and Burlington, Vt.

Broome Pastor Is New Leader of Oneonta Group

JOHNSON CITY, N.Y. (AP) — The Rev. Francis Freeman, pastor of Sarah Jane Johnson Memorial Church here for the past 12 years, is the new superintendent of the Oneonta District, Wyoming Methodist Conference.

Bishop Fred Pierce Corson of Philadelphia made the appointment Wednesday night. He said the Rev. Mr. Freeman would succeed the Rev. Samuel J. Truscott, who has been appointed head of the Conference Children's Home at nearby Hillcrest.

Bishop Corson told the 109th annual meeting that he might be assigned to another area. It is expected that the Northeastern States Jurisdictional Conference, which meets next month in Washington, D.C., will name replacements for three bishops who are retiring.

Henry R. Van Deusen Jr. of Scranton, Pa., an attorney, was elected to the conference board of trustees to succeed his late father. The Rev. Roswell Lyon, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Oneonta, was re-elected board secretary.

The Rev. Mr. Truscott was appointed to the Wesley Foundation at Cornell University for three years.

The Rev. Leon W. Boston, superintendent of the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., district, was elected to the board of trustees of Syracuse University for a six-year term.

Approximately 300 lay and ministerial delegates are attending the five-day meeting, which ends Sunday. They represent Methodist churches in the conference's four districts—Binghamton, Oneonta, Scranton and Wilkes-Barre.

Desi Leaves Hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Desi Arnez is out of Cedars of Lebanon Hospital after a week's stay for what his doctors said was his annual health checkup.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

In 1927 when Kinkston was celebrating its 150th birthday, the events were written up in the Kingston Daily Freeman, one of which is dated, Sept. 10, 1927. One item is called "Historic Pilgrimage" which was in charge of Captain Everett Fowler. A long line of autos were furnished by the Kingston Automobile Association which left the then Stuyvesant Hotel early in the morning.

Going briefly over some of the points of interest visited by the invited prominent guests:

"First was the architecturally beautiful old Court House on Wall Street, where George Clinton took his oath of office, and almost opposite, the site of the first Old Dutch Church, built in 1661. Next the cars passed the site of the old Block House, built in 1658 on the southwest corner of Main and Fair Streets, and the southeast corner of the old Stockade, corner of Main and Clinton Avenue. The Old Senate House was the next spot visited, then along North Front Street past the Christopher Tappen House on the southwest corner of Wall and North Front Street."

So many cities are coining gold from visitors by putting together historic buildings and villages while we have authentic structures with actual historic backgrounds such as the famous De Waal Tavern for instance. This old stone building between Green and Crown Streets once opened its doors to the most distinguished events of Colonial days. La Fayette was a guest of honor at one of these notable social functions. I wonder how many North Front Street folks know about it.

The northwest corner of the stockade is marked by the building owned by the Salvation Army, and it is recorded that from this building a small cannon was pointed as a protection for travelers leaving the village of Kingston for Hurley. The entrance to the old King's Highway was just opposite, at the corner of North Front Street and Converse Street. They mention the Old Coffee House on Crown Street, "where gathered the prominent citizens of those earlier days, then the corner of Crown and John Streets where the four old Colonial stone houses stand, one of which, on the southwest corner of Crown and John Streets, being the old Kingston Academy, founded in 1774."

I mention these sturdy, stone houses, many of which are in good hands today and no doubt are most interesting to strangers seeing them for the first time, while we take them for granted.

The 1927 pilgrimage took them to the Henry Sleight House, later the home of Wiltwyck Chapter, DAR, at the junction of Crown and Green Streets. All the houses are within walking distance of each other. There is the Tobias Van Steenbergh Jr., house, said to be the only house not burned by the British, on Wall Street at the head of Franklin Street. They then returned to the Old Dutch Church, the pilgrimage passed the Coenraedt Elmendorf Tavern at the southeast corner of Maiden Lane and Fair Street and the site of the Evart Bogardus Tavern. Folks still marvel at the thick walls in the buildings, the hand-hewn beams, and of course the stone construction. They built them for keeps in those days.

Itchy Remembrances

HERMOSA BEACH, Calif. (AP) —In the spring some youngsters' fancy turns to picking pretty wild flower corsages for their teachers.

The teachers liked it—until they started itching and breaking out.

So today — no more wild flower corsages. City crews sprayed drainage sumps where the poison ivy has been growing.

Plans Outlined for Annual Ceremonies on Memorial Day

The annual Memorial Day parade in Woodstock will start at 11:30 a. m. at Orchard Lane and will proceed to the Village Green, American Legion Commander Alan F. Styles of Woodstock Post 1036, said today.

A brief program scheduled at the green will include: (1) invocation by the Rev. Wayne C. Olson of the Woodstock Reformed Church (2) a brief talk by Commander Styles; and (3) the American Legion Auxiliary will place a wreath at the monument.

The parade will then proceed to the Woodstock Cemetery, where the chaplains of the following organizations will offer prayers for their departed dead: chaplain of the Woodstock Fire Companies, chaplain of the Odd Fellows, chaplain of the American Legion Auxiliary, chaplain of the American Legion, benediction by the Rev. Uyeki of St. Gregory's Church. There will be a salute to the dead.

The parade will then return to the Village Green for raising of the flag. Parade will then proceed to Town Hall for dispersal. Open house will be observed at the American Legion Home. All Legionnaires are ordered to parade on this, the Legionnaire's Day.

Tells of Vandalism

In his Memorial Day statement, Commander Styles said it has been observed that Legion Grave Markers in the Artist's Cemetery are being destroyed by individuals, who have no idea of the cost and hard work involved in their replacement.

The American Legion is in the process of ordering American 50 star flags. The flags can be ordered by contacting any Legionnaire, by calling the Legion Home and contacting the custodian, Jack Feeley.

Board Postpones Clean Up Week

The Open House to be held in conjunction with Clean Up Week in the township of Woodstock was postponed from May 21 to May 28, by action of the Town Board Tuesday night.

Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux said the postponement was necessary because inclement weather of the past several days had delayed overhaul and refurbishing of town facilities.

The primary purpose of Open House is to give residents of the township an opportunity to view and inspect municipal facilities. A representative of each town department will be present at all buildings and installations.

Other business transacted at the meeting:

The supervisor notified the town board he had written a letter to W. O. Schirmer suggesting the town enter into a cablevision agreement similar to that made between Schirmer and the town of Saugerties. He also renewed his request that the cablevision company give consideration to furnishing FM reception on the line. A reply had not been received from the company at meeting time.

Supervisor Molyneaux suggested a delay in preparing a petition for abandonment of the highly controversial Route 28 traffic triangle near, at the intersection of Routes 28 and 28A. He said there is now legislation which may require the City of New York to plow and maintain the road and area and suggested a study of the new law before proceeding with abandonment.

Add New Names

The board added two new names to the list of town roads to receive new signs—Rose Lane and deLisio Lane. The question of two Schoonmaker Lanes was resolved. Old Schoonmaker Lane off Route 212 will henceforth be known as Schoonmaker Lane, the other Schoonmaker Lane leading to the Rotron plant, off Route 375, will be known as Hasbrouck Lane.

The board acknowledged receipt of a letter from Watson I. Goodrich, administrative assistant at Onteora Central School, commending the board for furnishing a school traffic patrol at the intersection of Route 212 and Route 375 in Woodstock.

Richard W. Morse of Woodstock Heights spoke from the floor and asked if completion of the roads in that area could be speeded up. He said he had been in contact with road superintendent Cashdollar for some time on the project. Supervisor Molyneaux informed Morse that road work generally slackens at this time of the year because of unsuitable working conditions, but they could expect action during the summer months.

Board members present were: Supervisor Molyneaux, Councilman Tobie Geertsema and Justices of the Peace Charles A. Farley and Rudi Baumgarten. Councilman John Pike was absent because of illness.

Board Will Buy Map for $1000

The Town Board has authorizer purchase of a comprehensive town map at an estimated cost of $1,000.

The board acted after Supervisor Molyneaux had reported on recent activities of the Town Planning Board. He said the planning board had brought the cost of such a map within reach of the town budget. Such maps, he added, had been purchased by other towns in the county at much higher costs. He also suggested that the cost of the map be shared proportionately by the various departments in the township.

Supervisor Molyneaux complimented the board for their activities to date, said they were doing an excellent job, "studying problems and making recommendations that will be a real contribution to the future of Woodstock."

Apparently guarding against premature disclosure of plans, the supervisor did not elaborate on specific projects now being studied by the board.

Town Board Accepts Adjustment of $2,554

An insurance settlement in the amount of $2,554 for all damages done to town hall building by the defective heating system was certified by the Town Board Tuesday night.

The board acted on the recommendation of Supervisor Molyneaux, who said he considered a fair and adequate adjustment. He said the money would be placed in the general fund for payment of bills incurred in repairing the damages.

The board also heard a report on an inspection of facilities made by George Laws and Freilan VanDeBogart which recommended installation of modern equipment and a hot water heating system.

The supervisor reported that fire hydrants had been checked and none was in danger. He said they had been purposely built above ground level to make provision for periodic road improvements and building up of the road level.

Women's League Plans Workshop On Recreation

Members of the League of Women Voters interested in a study of the recreational needs of the community and possible natural facilities for satisfying the many needs will meet with Mrs. Reginald Wilson this evening at 8 o'clock.

A plan has been outlined for a survey of possible lands for use as a community park considering size, convenience, and adaptability for games, picnic space and swimming.

This study will also consider the possibilities for a small park within the village containing benches and trees for the enjoyment of the shopper or the casual stroller. The needs of different age groups will be considered, and those with different recreational interests.

This can be a most interesting study group and any findings will be made available to any residents of the village of Woodstock so interested.

Legion Post Issues Warning on Phonies

It has come to the attention of Woodstock Post 1026 that solicitation for magazine subscriptions is being made in the locality, Commander Alan F. Styles said today.

The individuals carrying on this campaign have not and will never carry the endorsement of Woodstock Post 1026, American Legion, he said.

Styles said the magazine project is strictly an American Legion Auxiliary function and will not get under way until early summer. The members of the American Legion feel it is necessary to advise residents of Woodstock township, that the campaign now underway has no affiliation with the local American Legion Post.

Board Votes, 5-2 On Insurance

Onteora Board of Education has voted a supplementary item of $5,000 to cover additional student insurance for 1960-61 and to be presented as a separate resolution at the annual meeting.

Action was taken by a 5 to 2 vote at this week's meeting, climaxing several months of debate on the matter.

In the roll call vote, Trustees Marie Kleine, Arthur P. Knight, Harry Allen, Anne Larys and Edward West voted for the measure. Trustees Philip Gordon and John Aalto dissented.

In the final debate which crytallized considerable thinking and research over the past several meetings of the board, Trustee Aalto said he was against it. Trustee West said he felt the taxpayers of the district should have an opportunity of expression. Trustee Kleine said she favored the proposal either as a budget item or separate resolution. Trustee Knight said he favored a separate item.

Trustee Harry Allen then moved that the student insurance item be presented as a supplementary item, not to exceed $5,000, at the annual meeting. Trustee West seconded the motion.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roast beef will appear on many American dinner tables this Sunday, judging from the specials advertised by supermarkets and neighborhood groceries.

Rib roast is the favorite in the East and Far West, while round steak is favored in some Midwestern areas. Prices run 4 to 10 cents a pound less than a week ago.

Further offerings of roast beef are in line with U.S. Department of Agriculture forecasts of supplies continuing above last year's levels. Better grades will account for most of the increase the first half of this year, it's said, while lower grades will be more plentiful the last half.

Lamb prices are up 4 to 10 cents a pound. Fryers are being pushed in the East, middle Atlantic region and Midwest. You can get them for 29 cents a pound in some places.

Best vegetable buys this week are carrots, corn, eggplant, lettuce, old stock medium onions, green and yellow squash, radishes, nearby kale, green onions, endive, escarole, Texas' new crop onions, sweet potatoes, peas, and tender new potatoes from California and Florida.

Best buys among fruits are bananas, oranges and pineapples, while good bargains can be had from among avocados, limes, lemons, grapefruit and strawberries.

Shokan

SHOKAN—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hill and small grandson of Poughkeepsie were callers in the hub of the reservoir country Saturday.

Also in town Saturday were Gertrude Levine and Josephine Luke, New York City residents who have summer homes at Chichester.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Barley reportedly have bought a lot from Edwin Secor at junction of the Ridge and Ashokan Mountain Roads and are making their home in a trailer on the premises.

Members of the Ashokan Reservoir department force are currently making repairs to the city-built roads in the vicinity of the aerator park.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Vincent, Port Ewen couple whose picture appeared in The Freeman in connection with an account of their 55th wedding anniversary May 7, resided in Olive as young people. Mrs. Vincent is the former Susie Gollman of the old village of West Shokan.

Having a birthday May 18 is John Adels who settled in Ashokan in 1932. Adels, one of the town's most enthusiastic Izaak Waltons, has three grown sons and several grandchildren, all of whom reside here.

Robert Adsit, Shokan, was master of ceremonies at the Olive Fire Department anniversary dinner Saturday evening, May 7. Speakers at the dinner included Charles Relyea, John Aalto and Winifred Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schlotter, Saugerties, were Shokan callers Saturday.

William Shultis underwent surgery at a Kingston hospital last week. Shultis, who retired from the reservoir force two years ago, had been a city employe since the very start of operations on the big water supply project in 1906.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Peck who have been spending several months in Charleston, S. C., where their elder son Thomas resides, are again at their Shokan home near Tice TenEyck Mountain.

Poughkeepsie people in town the latter part of the week included Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Flanagan, Mrs. Fred Legnan and Mrs. F. S. Chichester. They were on their way to Westkill where Mrs. Chichester, a secretary at St. Francis Hospital, planned to visit friends, the R. S. Sherratt family.

AMERICAN MENU

White Asparagus Is a Salad Topper Out California Way

CALIFORNIA patio salad features fresh greens, garnished with chopped eggs, crisp bacon bits, canned white asparagus spears.

Did you ever ride for miles and miles through feathery fields of asparagus? Well we did—in the San Joaquin Valley of California where the annual crop is valued at over 17 million dollars. The soil of the delta lands of California grows practically all of the white and over a third of the green asparagus commercially produced in the United States.

The growers and their families like to eat the stuff as well as sell it. Good reason. They have fine western recipes. So let's stop off for a meal in that fertile valley edged with snow-tipped mountains. These folk eat "good."

For a California luncheon for 8 to 10 served on a patio overlooking stretches of asparagus, they served a salad of about 2 quarts of asserted freshly crisp beans garnished with spears of canned white asparagus, grated hard-cooked eggs and crumbled crisp bacon. The dressing was olive or salad oil and fresh lemon juice. With this they served savory barbecued beef and hot fan-tan rolls filled with cheese.

Cheese Filled Fan-Tan Rolls

Partially separate sections of packaged fan-tan rolls. Spread with soft butter or margarine mixed with a little prepared mustard; then insert quartered processed cheese slices. Bake at 425 degrees F. 5 to 10 minutes until cheese is softened and beginning to melt.

On another friendly patio we relished this variation on the asparagus theme. The salami-corn muffins hit the spot, too.

Wilder's Winners

NEW YORK (AP)—Thornton Wilder has won the Pulitzer Prize three times, two for Broadway plays. He won the award in 1938 for his drama, "Our Town," with Frank Craven in the leading role of The Commentator. He won it again in 1942 with Tallulah Bankhead starring in his "The Skin of Our Teeth."

The Huron, the only lightship stationed in the Great Lakes, is also the only U.S. Coast Guard lightship painted black. All the others are red.

Open Meeting of West Hurley P-TA Set; Mary Margaret McBride Accepts Invitation

Mary Margaret McBride

Family unity and examples parents set for their children will be among the topics discussed by Mary Margaret McBride, author and famous radio-TV personality, before an open meeting of the West Hurley P-TA on Tuesday May 24 at the West Hurley School.

Mrs. Andrew Horvath, president of the P-TA has extended a cordial invitation to all parents and friends in the Onteora Central School district to attend this May meeting which will begin at 8 p. m.

New Book Competed

During these past months, Miss McBride has been hard at work completing another book, "The Radio Years," which is a sequel to the popular "Long Way From Missouri." As of January, 1959, Miss McBride had written 11 books. "Radio Years" is scheduled for a September release.

In the May issue of Good Housekeeping, General Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the United States includes Mary Margaret McBride in a list of women he would select as peace envoys. About her he writes, ". . . she posses dignity, charm and good sense."

NEA Editor

Miss McBride's first important job-feature writing for the old New York Mail, started her toward the writing career that took her on assignments all over the country and Europe. As women's editor of NEA, her byline was syndicated to millions of newspaper readers.

It was radio, back in 1934, that crystalized Mary Margaret's rare talent for reporting and interviewing. A highlight of her career was her 10th anniversary on the air when crowds packed Madison Square Garden to honor her.

Her broadcasts over the 20-year period, culminating in 1954, passed well over the 15,000-mark and it was estimated that the popular radio celebrity had interviewed some 30,000 persons.

Leaving radio in 1954, Miss McBride went over to television and also later wrote a daily column for the Associated Press.

Mary Margaret is the first living woman to have a day proclaimed in her honor, when the State of Missouri set aside November 22 as Mary Margaret McBride Day. Jackson and Perkins honored her with the Mary Margaret McBride rose; The Woman's National Radio Committee voted her the most popular woman on the air; a National Radio and Screen Magazine presented her with its Oscar for the year's best broadcasting work.

She has been honored by the Women's National Press Club, the Newspaper Woman's Club of New York and countless other organizations.

Mary Margaret was even decorated by King Haakan of Norway for her broadcasting during the war. She has also received the Distinguished Honor Award from the Haitian Government and a special medallion of honor from the Goverriment of the Virgin Islands.

Following the business meeting, the members were entertained at the home of Mrs. Henry Millonig, 89 Clinton Avenue. The program, featuring music for two pianos, was given by members of the Musical Society of Kingston. Mrs. Deweese DeWitt introduced the entertainers and read "A Commentary on the Four Seasons."

Mrs. William Rylance and Mrs. Roland Tonnesen presented "Variations Symphoniques" by Franck. Mrs. Millonig, with her three daughters, Ann Lynn Millonig, Mrs. Clarence Beehler and Mrs. Robert MacKinnon, presented "Country Gardens" by Granger. Mrs. George Baron and Mrs. Lester Decker played "El Pelele (The Straw Man)" by Granados.

Summer Theatres

Woodstock Playhouse

M. Edgar Rosenblum has announced the acquisition of the Woodstock Playhouse in Woodstock. The Playhouse, which has been a fixture in Woodstock since 1938 at the intersection of Routes 375 and 212, was originally built by Robert Elwyn. It has been owned and operated by four different producers since its inception: Robert Elwyn, the founder; Michael Linenthal; and most recently, A. L. Sainer, who relinquished title to Mr. Rosenblum this year.

Mr. Rosenblum, before taking over the Playhouse property, operated the Polari Gallery in Woodstock and New York City, and had been associated with the National Music League. He also is a partner in Polari Productions, a permanent theatrical organization. Previous to this he had been in the advertising field. Born and raised in Brooklyn, he was educated in the secondary and high schools there and later attended Bard College, where he first came to know Woodstock.

Mr. Rosenblum has announced some important changes for the property and will open his season on June 28 with all completed improvements.

The Playhouse will now be air-cooled; all seats in the theater will be cushioned; the lobby, lounges, dressing rooms and the entire exterior of the building are being painted and decorated. Roofing work has been done, gutters are being put on the front rotunda and the entire tract of land surrounding the Playhouse is being landscaped. The familiar garbage heap on the west side of the theater is in the process of being erased and the scene painting area on the same spot will be tented, so that the teachnical staff may operate in all weather without interfering with cast rehearsals.

The Playhouse will have in addition to these improvements the largest private art gallery in Woodstock, erected on the east side of the theater. It will be the successor to the well known Polari Gallery, which has been the summer home for many of Woodstock's artists in the last four years. A Sculpture Garden is also planned. Mr. Rosenblum hopes eventually to establish a complete arts center at the location. Aside from the 10 plays from recent Broadway seasons, a series of folk concerts on Saturday midnights are planned, as well as other chamber music concerts, and at the end of the season a contemporary chamber music symposium.

School of Dance

The old schoolhouse in back of the Grand Union has been rented by the Playhouse and a School of Dance with classes for beginners and advanced students will be conducted.

The Woodstock Playhouse has been the beginning of many famous artists' careers and is well known as a summer theater throughout the United States. Many stars have appeared there and there have been film festivals as well as package shows and stock companies. It can even boast of having had a Shakespeare Festival.

Mr. Rosenblum plans to maintain a truly permanent repertory theater, made up of all professional actors and actresses. The company will be the same as that of Polari Productions, which toured the mid-west United States last fall very successfully and which will open a new show in New York this fall.

As usual, the openings will be on Tuesday nights with performances through Sunday nights. Mondays the theater will be closed, with exceptions on July 4 and September 5. Curtain at 8:40, except Sundays at 7:30.

The plays to be presented are: Time Remembered; The Disenchanted; Nude With Violin; Epitaph for George Dillon; Pictures in the Hallway; Sunrise at Campobello; Look Homeward, Angel; Dark at the Top of the Stairs; The World of Sholom Aleichem; and Two for the Seesaw.

Announcement of the appointment of director for the season and other staff members will be made shortly.

A RELATIVE'S WEDDING GIFT

Dear Mrs. Post: What may I do about exchanging a pair of lamps sent to me for a wedding present by a relative of my fiance? The lamps were sent from a large department store, and while they are very pretty, they are completely out of keeping with the rest of my furnishings. So what can I do? I certainly don't want to start out on the wrong foot by hurting her feelings, but I can't see spoling my whole room because of them. Will you please come to the rescue?

Answer: Yours is an unhappy situation that comes to many of us, and from long experience I believe the best thing you can do is to be frank and write, or tell, your fiance's relative that the lamps are beautiful, and that she is spoiling you by sending such an expensive present, but that as they are ancient Chinese and will not look well in your strictly modern room, you wonder if she would mind if you exchanged them.

Refusing An Extra Woman Guest

Dear Mrs. Post: What can a hostess say when a guest (a man) calls and asks her if he may bring a woman friend to a party that she is giving. Must she be polite and say it is quite all right to bring her, or could she refuse without seeming rude, and if so how can this be done without offending?

Answer: The hostage may, with propriety, say that she is very sorry but she hasn't enough men to balance the women she has invited as it is and simply cannot have another woman guest.

Tipping Dressing Room Attendant

Dear Mrs. Post: When an attendant in a dressing room of a theatre or restaurant hands you a small towel on which to dry your hands, is it necessary to leave something on the plate which she has provided for tips? If so, how much does one leave? I have noticed that usually there are only quarters on the plate. Isn't this rather a lot for this small service?

Answer: Ten cents would be sufficient for this limited service, unless you are in a very expensive restaurant or night club.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-28 entitled, "House warmings and Surprise Parties," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Band Concert Is Set for Saturday; Strehle Bandmaster

The bandmaster for the Lehigh Corps Band, Philadelphia, Pa., which will play Saturday evening at the George Washington School, learned to play a baritone in the old Philadelphia No. 4 Corps Band.

Kenneth Strehle took a few lessons through the Salvation Army's musical education system and, after much patience, moved to the cornet. He was encouraged to take the Army's instruction course for bandmasters as provided by the international headquarters in London.

The concert at the Washington School will begin at 8 p. m. It marks the beginning of a full schedule of events here during Salvation Army Week, May 22-29.

After a short time as member of the Philadelphia divisional headquarters band Strehle was asked to assume leadership of the band where he first started to play. This band soon assumed the name of Lehigh Corps Band which was then in dire circumstances, having suffered severe losses in personnel and having been without a bandmaster for several years.

In order to further prepare himself for his task Strehle took advance music courses at Temple University and studied under Erik Leidzen, a brilliant arranger and conductor.

Despite heavy losses suffered during World War 2, the band grew in experience, ability and stature and is recognized today as one of the great non-professional bands of America—one of the best Salvation Army bands in the country.

In 1943 Strehle was asked to assume responsibility as divisional music director for the Salvation Army in Southeastern Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey. In this capacity he is director of all musical activities in the field with 28 corps and is responsible for a summer music camp and directs a boys' band school in Philadelphia.

He is married and has two children. His wife and both of his children are members of the band. Strehle will complete 25 years of active leadership with the Lehigh Corps Band this June.

He is reported to still work enthusiastically to produce the best possible music for the proclamation of the Gospel of Christ-as is the joy of all Salvation Army bands.

Elementary School Pupils Take Part In Music Festival

The elementary school band and orchestra from Schools No. 4, 6 and 8 were taken Saturday, May 14, by Donald Slater, instrumental music teacher for the Kingston School System, to the New York State Music Festival held at the Tri-Valley School in Grahamsville.

Because the groups entered on a festival basis they did not receive a letter grade but the comments of the adjudicators were very complimentary to both the members of the two organizations and to their teacher.

Mr. Slater did, however, have some soloists and ensembles compete for a letter grade and out of the six groups that participated, five received A's and one received "B" grade.

Students of Mr. Slater participating in this event were:

School No .4 - - Susan Adams, Anna Jean Washington, Nancy Crosby, James Broadhead, James Esposito and Bart Godbey.

School No. 6 - - Lydia Newcombe, Geraldine Donnato, Cathy Drummond, Susan Hartman, Donna Legg, Linda Wiegert, Jo Ann Meeks, Lois Korzendofer, Shelly Drowns, Patricia Hogan, George Christian, Charles Thomas, Kenneth Woolsey, Sam Fraton, James McGarry, Mark Epstein, Dennis O'Reilly, and James Boyd.

School No. 8 - - Carol Schivonne, Rita Klementis, Alma Becker, Donna Eisle, Alan Deyo, Alan Alcon, Robert Nagle, Barry Present, Joseph Ryndak, and Charles Green.

Comer-Hull Nuptials Held at First Baptist Church May 15; Couple to Live in Syracuse

Miss Carolyn Judith Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon A. Hull of 187 Downs Street, and Joseph Lee Comer of Syracuse were united in marriage Sunday, May 15, 4:30 p. m. at First Baptist Church. The Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, minister, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Arthur T. Pedersen, organist, played traditional wedding selections and Mrs. Harold J. Stephanz sang Because, If I Could Tell You, and The Lord's Prayer.

Palms, white gladioli, snapdragons and chrysanthemums decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of pure silk organza over taffeta with modified Sabrina neckline trimmed with rosepoint lace reembroidered with seed pearls. Her long sleeves terminated in points over the wrists and the bouffant skirt with sweep train was accented at the hipline with re-embroidered lace. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was gathered to a crown of rosepoint lace trimmed with seed pearls and two crystal pendants. She carried a satin and lace covered New Testament with white bridal roses and pink sweetpeas and streamers.

Miss Beverly Christiana of 67 Miller's Lane was maid of honor. She wore a seascape aqua silk organza over taffeta gown of ballerina length with molded sleeveless bodice and modified bustle back featuring a butterfly organza bow inset with roses. She carried a fireside basket of spring flowers.

The Misses Bonnie and Lucille Clark of 29 Harwich Street were bridesmaids in gowns styled to that of the honor attendant in candy pink and daffodil yellow. They carried fireside baskets of spring flowers with cascade bows to match gowns.

Miss Deborah Stephanz of 187 Pine Street was flower girl in orchid silk organza gown with bouffant skirt. She carried a miniature fireside basket of spring flowers with multicolored cascade bow.

Best man was Wayne White of Glens Falls with Thomas J. Clark and Jerome Lark both of Syracuse as ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for approximately 75 guests was held in the church parlors.

For a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. and Ohio, Mrs. Comer chose a two-piece navy sheath dress with pink accessories and a corsage of roses and pink sweetpeas.

The couple will make their home at Senaca Knolls, Syracuse, where Mr. Comer is employed as a computer units field engineer with IBM.

A graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1957, the bride was employed by Prudential Insurance Company of Kingston.

Mr. Comer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Comer of 1405 Clark Street, Niles, Ohio, is an alumnus of McKinley High School, Niles, Ohio, and Valparaiso Technical Institute of Indiana. He also attended Youngstown University in Ohio.

Man Faces Long Prison Term for Dutchess Robbery

A 33-year-old Brooklyn man, who pleaded guilty in Dutchess County Court Wednesday to charges of attempted first degree robbery in the holdup of a restaurant proprietor last Oct. 18, faces a maximum prison sentence of 15 years.

Dominick V. Agostino was accused of robbing Samuel Weiss, 55, operator of the Silver Dollar restaurant at 552 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, as he was closing his place of business on the morning of the holdup.

Deputy Sheriff John Holden, who was returning to the office from an investigation, saw the two men struggling on the sidewalk and he ran to the aid of Weiss. Holden apprehended Agostino after a chase. Police said Weiss had $540 in his possession when he was attacked.

County Judge John R. Schwartz set June 3 for imposition of sentence and remanded the Brooklyn man to the county jail. The judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation by County Probation Officer Elbert C. Ackerman. Agostino's bail of $6,000 was revoked.

District Attorney Raymond Baratta said Agostino could receive anything from a suspended sentence to a prison term of five to 15 years.

Youths Reported Fair, Hurt in Thruway Mishap

Two teen-age Herkimer youths who were injured Wednesday afternoon in a mishap on the Thruway south of Kingston were reported apparently fair today at Kingston Hospital.

They are:

Jerome White, 18, driver of a 1959 rack truck, owned by Domenico Reale of Herkimer, multiple small lacerations and abrasions of the right forearm and hand and abrasions of both knees.

Richard Tangorra, 19, contusions of the left shoulder and elbow, left ankle and knee and lacerations of the left eyelid and right wrist.

Trooper J. G. Patterson of the Thruway police said the vehicle was proceeding north in the driving lane when it left the pavement on the east shoulder, plunged into a ditch and smashed into a rock cut, coming to rest facing west in the driving lane.

The mishap occurred at mile post 86, town of Rosendale.

Javits, Keating Given Praise on Their Birthdays

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York State's Republican senators, Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, celebrated their birthdays Wednesday. Javits is 56, Keating 60.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate, took the Senate floor and praised Javits and Keating as outstanding men. He expressed best wishes on their birthdays.

Keating noted that it was the 100th anniversary of the selection of Abraham Lincoln as the Republican presidential candidate in 1960 and said: "Im happy to have a birthday on such a momentous occasion."

Javits' staff surprised him with a birthday party. His presents included a blown-up front page from the New York Times of May 18, 1904, the day he was born.

The newspaper carried stories about the Sino-Japanese War, a police raid on horse race wires in New York City, and a Yale senior romancing a 90-year-old New Haven, Conn., widow.

Morhouse Warns Of Boss Control If Democrats Win

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—Continued Republican control of the Legislature is "the best guarantee for solvent, progressive state government," L. Judson Morhouse, Republican state chairman, says.

Democratic control of the Senate or Assembly would paralyze progressive government in New York, he told a testimonial dinner Wednesday night for Assemblyman Joseph F. Egan of Schenectady.

Democratic control, the chairman said, would "give control of our law-making processes to the boss of Tammany Hall. There is no reason to believe that any new Democratic legislators elected Upstate would be free agents."

Morhouse, however, did not mention by name the current leader of Tammany Hall, Carmine G. DeSapio.

Egan won a special election last fall to succeed the late Oswald D. Heck, veteran speaker of the Assembly.

Diplomats Sum Up Crisis

Feel Khrush Has Lost Control of Red Policy

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS, (NEA)—There won't be a hot war in the foreseeable future, despite Premier Nikita Khruschchev's threat to conclude a separate treaty with East Germany.

This is the consensus of Western experts on communism who have been studying every word uttered by Khrushchev since he torpedoed the Summit Conference.

Hark to a leading Western diplomat who lives and works in Russia and is familiar with every zigzag of Soviet policy:

Others Have Voice

"It is now clear the Khrushchev has lost control of Soviet policy.

"Other tougher men like Mikhail Suslov, now have the deciding voice.

"However in any event, the unregenerated Stalinists in the Communist Party and the Red Army are aware of the facts of modern warfare. Though they rant and threaten they realize fully that the atomic balance of terror between the United States and Russia remains unchanged."

Failure of the Summit will, of course, intensify the Cold War, the diplomat said, adding:

"It was only in the minds of Britain's Macmillan and some hopeful U. S. commentators that the Cold War was ever relaxed."

Pressure Likely

No doubt he said, Moscow will intensify pressure on West Berlin and outlying NATO states like Turkey, Greece and Norway.

However, the Russians are not expected to cross the bridge that might lead to war by concluding a separate peace treaty with East Germany that would place West Berlin under Communist domination, for these two reasons:

1. Moscow has said repeatedly that a separate treaty with Red Germany would end the rights of the Allies to station troops in West Berlin. The Allies have made it clear they intend to stay. In the conflict of wills the Russians see the danger of war.

2. There are dissensions over Germany in the Red camp. Poland and Czechoslovakia who still fear Germany, Communist or capitalist, are fighting hard within the Warsaw Treaty Organization to prevent the signing of a separate Soviet-Germany peace treaty. This I am told by one of Poland's leading journalists who came to Paris for the Summit.

Sees 'War of Words'

Why then did Khrushchev schedule his trip to East Berlin after leaving Paris? As this Pole sees it, it was "to instruct his puppet, Walter Ulbricht, what course to follow during the next eight months, when Moscow hopes to renew negotiations with a new American president."

The Pole forecast a new "war of words," increased economic competition in the underdeveloped countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America—but not a nuclear war.

"Since the incident with the spy plane, which penetrated deep into Soviet territory, Moscow has a healthy respect for America's military deterrent," he said.

Even the leftists in Europe, who deplored the use of a spy plane by the U. S., are now conceding that President Eisenhower's patience and statesmanlike behavior under provocation have done much to allay European fears.

Khrushchev's brutal performance seems to be having an effect upon Western statesmen much like that caused by the rape of Czechoslovakia in 1948 and the Korean attack in 1950.

Like Swan Song

Khrushchev seems to have gambled everything on getting a "purge trial confession" from Eisenhower of guilt in the spy case, such as a Bulganin or a Malenkov would make in Moscow. He could then have told his Stalinist detractors: "You see, I have brought Eisenhower to his knees. A Summit Conference can have its uses."

The President's dignity and restraint left Khrushchev frightened and almost hysterical as he carried out orders to wreck the conference. His remarkable final press conference sounded to many like a swan song.

Retired General Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Conklin, World War II director of civil defense in Western New York, died of cancer Wednesday in Walter Reed Hospital. He was 87.

Conklin, who retired from active Army service in 1936, served as civil defense director from 1941 to 1944, when he moved to Washington. He was a native of Rochester, N.Y.

Conklin was named first chief of staff for the Hawaiian Department of the Army in 1912 and served in France during World War II.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Frank Cross of Jamestown, N.Y.

Maroon Golfers Trounce Poughkeepsie in DUSO, 10 to 2

Costello, 67, Ties KHS Record at Twaalfskill

Kingston High's golfers trounced Poughkeepsie High, 10-2, surviving some last minute hijinks in the matchup department, as William (Buzzy) Costello tied the school course record for the second time with a 35-32-67 on the Twaalfskill links.

Coach Harold Hathaway's swingers grossed 289, just two strokes shy of the all-time record, to sweep four matches and gain a 10-2 margin of victory.

Wednesday's DUSO League match completed the 1960 home season for the Maroons and marked the sixth straight year they have been undefeated at Twaalfskill.

In the normal order of things Mike Bruhn and Buzzy Costello would have played in the No. 1-2 slots, respectively, but after considerable horse trading between the two coaches, Rich Barthel wound up in the No. 1 slot, followed by Bruhn, Costello and Lauren Beaver.

The switch in batting order hardly effected the potency of the Kingston attack.

Barthel carded 39-36-75 to blank Tom Reid (41-40-81) of Poughkeepsie, 3-0. Bruhn handled Ralph Barassi, the Pioneers' No. 1 player, 2-1, carding 39-34-73 to Barassi's 38-37-75.

Costello shut out Doug Herring (38-40-78), as he tied the all-time school record of 67 for the second time in two weeks and Beaver (36-38-74) won a 2-1 decision over Tom Weiss (39-37-76).

Kingston faces one more crucial road test at Port Jervis.

Unknown Beats Rosi in Chicago

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Paolo Rosi, erstwhile No. 2 lightweight contender, may have left his fight in the gym before tangling with unranked Eddie Perkins in the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

"My legs, they just don't want to go, maybe I trained too hard," ruefully explained Rosi, a 9-5 favorite, after he dropped a unanimous 10-round decision to 23-year-old Perkins of Chicago in a nationally-televised bout.

It was just a year ago that Rosi from the Bronx, N. Y., gave lightweight champion Joe Brown a stiff battle before losing in the ninth round on a TKO because of cuts in a title match.

But Wednesday night, Rosi never got untracked against the aggressive Perkins.

shots, as well as the consequent further opening of the stance, especially from the waist up. The other ball indicates the point of address for middle-iron shots.

We've seen the gradual opening of the stance as we moved from distance clubs to those designed primarily to make shorter, more accurate shots which can be controlled more easily. There's a simple reason for this. The shorter the shot, the shorter the swing, and the less body effort.

Therefore, the stance is gradually opened as you move from drive to wedge to make it easier for the club to come into the hitting area, make contact and flow up into a follow through.

Versace Gains State Finals

Edges Charter With 227 Average In Final Block

Phil Versace rolled 1361, a 226 average for the six-game route, to lead the New York State Individual Match Game qualifying tournament at Ferraro.

The veteran bellwether of the Dutchess Rec squad in the HVBL compiled 59.23 Petersen points in winning five of six games. His teammate, a current HVBL average leader, Jake Charter, was second with 58.24 points and Larry Petersen of Kingston, third with 56.07 points. The top three bowlers each won 5 and lost one, but Versace's heavier pinfall decided the issue.

Rose Schatzel Winner In Area Eliminations

Finishing with a big kick—a 631 in her last three games—Rose Schatzel wrapped up the district qualifying title with a 24-game total of 4267 in the New York State Women's Individual Match Game tournament at Millerton.

Yanks Top Tribe, 4-2

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gil McDougald's three-run homer for the New York Yankees Wednesday night beat Cleveland 4-2, and the win was New York's first victory in four tries against the Tribe. The win jumped the Yankees past the Indians into third place in the American League race.

Chicago's White Sox, still unbeaten at home in eight games, retained a half-game lead with a 6-5 decision over Boston. Baltimore reclaimed second place by defeating Kansas City 5-4 on Jackie Brandt's ninth-inning homer. Washington finally won one from Detroit, beating the Tigers 3-0 in 11 innings as Camilo Pascual ran his shutout string to 26 innings, longest in the majors this season.

McDougald's third homer was all the Yankees needed behind Ralph Terry's eight-hit, eight-strikeout pitching. McDougald's shot followed a walk and Elston Howard's single in the second inning off losing rookie Wynn Hawkins (3-3).

Winning reliever Gerry Staley (4-1) got the clinching run home for the White Sox with a sacrifice fly in the sixth. They had come from behind against loser Frank Sullivan (1-3) with four runs in the fifth, two on Minnie Minoso's two-out double.

Gene Woodling's two-run double tied it 4-all in the seventh for Baltimore. Brandt then tagged losing reliever Leo Kiely (1-1) for his fourth homer. Rookie Steve Barber (3-1) won it in relief.

Snead Sizzling On Home Layout

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) —If the other 63 pros didn't already suspect it, Sam Snead is ready to set them his usual pace in his 72-hole golf tournament starting today.

In his last three full fledged practice rounds, Snead whipped around the Old White course in 66, 64 and 63 strokes. Par for the 6,497-yard course where people have been hitting golf balls since 1884 is 70.

The Slammer, who has been pro at the course for 24 years and host to 12 past tournaments, wound up a victor last year with a 6 on the Old White to win by a whopping 11 strokes over Mike Souchak. The day before, Snead took a sensational 59 strokes on his other course, the 6,397-yard Greenbrier where par also is 70.

The pros will play their first two rounds on the Old White and then alternate courses for the last two when each will be joined by three amateur partners.

• Just Random Observations:

Phil Rizzuto was a peerless shortstop for the Yankees, but seems to be seriously afflicted with foot-in-the-mouth disease at the microphone. But we can sympathize with The Scooter. The way the Yankees are going these days, small wonder he gets an overpowering urge to bolt out onto the sacred stadium sod.

We think Casey Stengel is a cad for not coming up with Ryne Duren everytime Phil predicts it from the pressbox.

Woodstock Little League is another small fry circuit in trouble for the usual reasons—parental apathy and indifference.

Charlie Manfro will probably pick up the high triple "on the road" prize in the Hudson Valley League. And doesn't that make the HVBL League rule look a bit silly, since Sir Charles rolls on that same battery of alleys every week in the Bowlero Major?

Plans are moving nicely for the Peter Keresman testimonial scheduled on Saturday, June 25, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Bob Robins, newly-elected Poughkeepsie Bowling Association and Bert Rhea, the hardy perennial, will be among the guests.

Is Billy Ostrom slipping? Hardly, he slammed a home run, double and pitched two relief innings for Amenia against Winsted, Conn., in the Interstate League last Sunday.

Has Larry DeVita, the prize Poughkeepsie southpaw, been flirting with Fred Davi's Kingston Braves and will that ruffle the fine harmony between Laughing Boy and Johnny Babiarz, if Larry boy crosses the Hudson river?

Frank (Chief) Fuscardo, a boyhood baseball chum and proprietor of Hilltop Rest, waited five years, but finally landed that City Minor League bowling pennant.

• Tenpin Topics:

Beverly Lanes, a 64-lane house, has been announced for the 28th annual New York State Woman's Bowling Association tournament in March, April and May of 1961. An entry in excess of the 2438 teams that are competing in the current Geneva tournament is anticipated. When Kingston hosted the 1950 championships, the entry total was 1330. . . . Only seven keglers rolled 190 average or better in the Bowlero Major, a big surprise since conditions were considered conducive to high scoring. Dick Howard's whopping near-202 put him in a class by himself. . . . Hilda Murphy's rebounding from a 158 to 232-245 in the final session of the Friendship League was another in a remarkable string of comebacks for this high powered shooter. That "one bad game" deprived her of several whopping triples during the 1959-60 season, although she climbed over the 600 mark more than a dozen times. . . . How about this for an example of steadfast, consistent loyalty? Elda Conder drives 48 miles each way so she can bowl with a Pueblo, Colo. team. Since she started six years ago, she has yet to miss a bowling night. . . . Jean Cowger of Oklahoma City is the national women's scoring leader with 779 this season.

PURE STENGELESE: Casey Stengel, the noted syntax expert, has a few choice words about pitchers who want a starting role when they belong in the bullpen. "That pitcher," he said (referring to Larry Sherry) "got all wrapped up in himself when he took charge in the World Series. He tells Alston he will last longer if he pitches regular and not just when there's trouble, so will the manager please tell somebody to move over and make room? Now this is dangerous business because they got starters all over the place and I'd have to say that where this pitcher belongs is where he doesn't want to be." Is this clear to everyone?

Cards 83 Gross In Weekly Event

Andy Petruski of Wiltwyck Country Club, a 20 handicap player, led the Class C field with an 83 in the rainswept Eastern New York Golf Association weekly tournament, Wednesday at the Colonie Country Club.

Walter Kubica of Pittsfield led the Class A contingent at Wolferts Roost with a one-over-par 71 to lead the 72 players. Lou Witt, home club star, trailed Kubica, a consistent ENYGA winner, by a single shot.

Morty A. Schwartz of Colonie and Tom Kane of Normanside tied with 79's for the Class B lead at Colonie.

John Provenzano of Wiltwyck earned a low net prize in Class C with 85-14-7-, and Charles J. Turck was a net winner in Class A with 76-6-70.

Other Kingston scores for the day:

Class A—Charles J. Turck, 76-6-70; George Cosenza, 82-7-75; Maurice Davenport, Wiltwyck, 86-5-81; Phil Malin, 86-5-81.

Class B—J. Howard Byrne, 89-12-77; John Turck, 89-12-77.

Class C—Andy Petruski, 83-20-63; John Provenzano, 85-14-71; Tom Stenson, 92-15-77; Mike Marchuk, 99-17-82; A. R. Heisman, 101-18-83.

Next week the tourney will be at the McGregor links.

Giants Pirates In Tie

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's bombing Braves finally have gained some ground in that National League race—and they did it while being held without a home run for the first time in two weeks.

Using singles and doubles Wednesday night the Braves scored a 3-1 decision over San Francisco that handed southpaw Mike McCormick his first defeat and left the Giants in a first place tie with Pittsburgh. The Pirates gained a share of the lead by beating St. Louis 4-2. It was Pittsburgh's seventh victory in eight games.

Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles 5-4 in 12 innings in the only other game played in the NL. Chicago's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

The Braves beat McCormick, who won his first five, with a seventh inning run that broke a 1-1 tie. Reliever Don McMahon then saved it by getting Willie McCovey on a fly to center with the bases loaded in the ninth. Bob Rush (2-0) won it.

Right-hander Vern Law, who has lost one, became the first six-game winner in the majors, going all the way with a nine-hitter against St. Louis. The Cards, with manager Solly Hemus rumored on the way out, were blanked on six hits until the ninth while losing for the 14th time in 16 road games. Pittsburgh scored twice in the first, then nailed it with two in the seventh against ex-Pirate Ron Kline (1-3).

Frank Robinson made it 4-all in the 10th with his two-run homer off losing Dodger Reliever Danny McDevitt (0-1).

Bill Henry (1-1) won it with one-inning of relief after Jay Hook gave up 10 hits and four runs but fanned 10 in 11 frames.

New Paltz Scores Win at Onteora Meet

New Paltz High School took first place with 66⅔ points in the inter-school track meet with Onteora and Rondout Valley athletes at Onteora Wednesday afternoon. Onteora finished in second place with 57 5/6 points and Rondout topped off the events with 4½ points.

A new school record in the discus throw was chalked up by New Paltz when Vandenburgh hurled the discus a distance of 134.5 feet. Vandenburgh also came through in first place in the shotput hurling it 42 feet and 8 inches.

Onteora won the 880-yard relay, with New Paltz finishing second. Aube of the Paltz team won the one mile event in a little more than five minutes, with Muller (O) coming in second. The high jump ended in a three-way tie with Mars and Wirthman (NP) and Schreiner (O) jumping five feet.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Ingo Awaits Patterson Without Care in World

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK, (NEA) — The ancillary rights settled and Cus D'Amato shut up, the second edition of the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson fight finally is set for the Polo Grounds in late June.

Life will become even gayer at Jennie Grossinger's famous resort in the Catskills when Johansson arrives in early May to pick up where he left off last June 20.

Johansson is a casual as ever and you get the idea that he hasn't a care in the world. The night he flew in from Paris for the signing he was more interested in a lovely creature in the cocktail lounge of the Drake Hotel than Patterson. He'd get around to the fight later, and you suspected that he felt like asking, "What fight?"

Johansson said he would return to Grossinger's with the elaborate entourage which a year ago made most boxing people suspect that the Smorgasbord Swatter was on a family picnic rather than preparing to make a bid for the heavyweight championship.

Johansson violated all the time-honored precepts of training. As far as the trained naked eye could see Ingo's principal sparring partner was his beauteous fiancee, Birgit Lundgren—on the Grossinger dance floor.

Johansson slept late and generally remained in seclusion in the daytime. But when the sun went down and the lights went up, he blossomed like a night blooming cereus.

INGEMAR JOHANSSON
"The consupiscent school"

Johansson put so little into his work and seemed to have so little that one observer exclaimed, "This guy is either the worst heavyweight I ever saw or he's a better actor than John Barrymore." The latter turned out to be right the first time the dimpled darling of Sweden drew a bead on Patterson's whiskers.

"Johansson is of the concupiscent school of fighters," says Ned Brown, who was keeping tab on superior sluggers for some time before he saw Battling Nelson foul Joe Gans in the 40th round at Goldenfield in 1906.

"This is as opposed to the continence set of which Gene Tunney was a leading apostle. Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Jack Britton, Tommy Loughran and Rocky Marciano denied themselves everything in training. So does Patterson."

Johansson will be graduated cum laude from what Professor Brown calls the concupiscent (that'll run the boys to the dictionary) school of sluggers.

"Ingo the Bingo is like Harry Greb, Kid McCoy, Jack Johnson, Stanley Ketchel, Ted Kid Lewis, Mickey Walker, Maxine Rosenbloom, Ace Hudkins, Max Baer and Rocky Graziano, said Professor Brown.

"Greb in particular did roadwork on the primrose path. Like Johansson, Greb was practically a teetotaler who discovered that tripping the light fantistic beat roadwork all hollow.

"Check and you will find the concupiscent group has produced the more flamboyant fighters. By and large the Tunney type of perfectionist lacks the attributes of a box office attraction."

In contrast to Johansson's insouciant approach to beak busting, Patterson, it seems, has been training forever. There isn't any question but that Patterson has won the long-distance conditioning championship.

When Floyd practically had to be carried from the Yankee Stadium battlepit, they said he was overtrained. This intensity with which he has drilled since leads you to suspect that he may have the same excuse again.

Ingemar Johansson, on the other hand, is a leadpipe cinch not to leave any of his fight in the gymnasium.

Fishing Which Defies Description

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor, Field & Stream

PATAGONIA, Argentina — (NEA) — We finally broke the barbs off our hooks.

Regardless of how Capt. Don MacArthur and I cast, no matter what fly we used, dry or wet, or streamer, rainbows curved from the bottom to take whatever we offered.

Even though hooked fish ran up and down the pool it didn't panic the others. The smallest trout weighted two pounds, but mostly they varied from three to six pounds. There was no counting the number we released.

I can't tell you the name of the river, because it doesn't have one. The map makers simply labelled it River Number One.

Of the 1,072,746 square miles which compose Argentina, the second largest Latin American country, a vast chunk of that real estate is still as primitive as was our pioneer west. Pointing like a slender, bony finger toward the Antarctic, Patagonia is the southernmost part of the mainland.

The first time I went to Patagonia, I had to drive from Bariloche south to Esquel, which is a long, dusty ride taking the better part of two days. This is enough to discourage most tourists after 20 or 25 hours of flying, but things have changed. Panagra Airways provides 11-hour jet service to Buenos Aires.

From there it's a four-hour flight to Bariloche. The two-day drive has been condensed to a one-hour flight from Barloche to Esquel, so the man with a two-weeks vacation can expect at least nine fishing days.

Using Esquel as a base of operations, you have more than 1,000 lakes and stream to choose from, depending on how far south you want to travel. The numbered lakes region offers excellent rainbow trout fishing and huge landlocked salmon.

Farther south in Fontan Lake, you will find the same species plus big brook and brown trout. All the way down in Lake Cardiel, in the middle of a barren plain, is fishing which defies description. Cardiel is a salt-water lake containing five to 10-pound fish in profusion.

Cold Brook G.I. Drowns in Japan

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Army today announced the death of Pfc. Ronald E. Greiner of Cold Brook, N.Y., in a swimming accident.

The 20-year-old soldier was swimming with three other servicemen last Sunday in a pond near Camp Zama, headquarters of the U.S. Army in Japan. Greiner disappeared, and his buddies found him after a 20-minute search.

The other men applied artificial respiration and rushed him to the U.S. Army Hospital, but Greiner was pronounced dead an hour and 45 minutes later.

Memorial services were held for the youth this afternoon at the Camp Zama Chapel. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. George D. Greiner of Cold Brook.

Body of Boy Found

SODUS POINT, N. Y. (AP)—The body of a 10-year-old boy, missing since he took a canoe ride with a companion April 14 near suburban Rochester, was found Wednesday night in Lake Ontario near this Wayne County community.

The boy was identified as Scott Wood, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wood, of Irondequoit.

Troopers said the body of another boy about the same age had been found but had not been identified.

Rickey Says CL To Be Salvation Of Diamond Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — Branch Rickey, president of the new Continental League, told Congress today its success would be "the salvation of the national game in America" at a time when minor league baseball "is on the rocks."

He urged enactment of proposed legislation that would give the fledgling league a chance to draft many players controlled by American and National League clubs.

Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick, who has criticized the proposed legislation, was slated to be a later witness.

Appearing with Rickey before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee were William A. Shea, New York attorney who is one of the new league's founders, and Edwin C. Johnson, former Colorado governor and senator, a consultant to Continental.

The subcommittee's chairman, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) has introduced the bill.

Shea said the owners of the 16 present major league clubs are "the absolute dictators of organized baseball," and have slowed to a "virtual crawl the progress of our league toward realization."

Johnson, former president of the Western League, said he had come to cheer what he called its heroic efforts "to end the cruel monopoly in professional baseball that has reduced minor league clubs to poverty and handouts."

"Cities ready for major league ball," Johnson said, "have been dismissed with arrogant sneers and double talk."

The Empire State building was struck by lightning 68 times in a three-year period without damage.

Team Effort Could Put N. Y. In GOP Column, Nixon Feels

HI-Y OFFICERS INSTALLED—John Roberts, (center) newly installed president of Bookwalter Hi-Y Club of the local YMCA, receives gavel from Robert Ploss, retiring president at installation ceremonies Wednesday night at the YMCA. Robert Whiston, (left) last year's chaplain, was installed vice-president. Other officers installed were Jeffery Davis, secretary; William McDermott, treasurer; James Rundle, chaplain, and Robert Ploss, sergeant-at-arms. Abend Star officers installed were Diane Smith, president, succeeding Barbara Buddenhagen; Ruth Ann Stephens, vice-president; Barbara Buddenhagen, secretary; Jean Lynn Baltz, treasurer; Leslie Lawrence, chaplain, and Maxine Meyer, sergeant-at-arms. Frank Rebollo, youth director, was installing officer. (Freeman photo).

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon added up the score of a two-day visit and concluded today that Republicans can carry New York in November with a team effort.

The team he had in mind, by his own statement, included Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. The governor has been polite but seemingly unenthusiastic about Nixon's expected selection as the Republican presidential nominee.

Nixon himself was a model of circumspection Wednesday every time he dealt with the question of Rockefeller's announcement that he will not attend the GOP convention in Chicago. The question came up during Nixon's appearances in Syracuse, Auburn and Buffalo.

Yes, Nixon said, Rockefeller certainly is a possibility for the presidency. Yes, Nixon accepts as final the governor's statement that he won't take second place on the ticket.

Won't Ask Support

No, he had not presumed to ask county leaders to support him for the nomination in the face of State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse's proposal that the 96-vote convention delegation be kept uncommitted.

Yes, he felt the Republicans could carry New York in the general election by a "major united party effort." This latter, Nixon told reporters later, indicates he thinks Rockefeller will go all out in New York to get him elected after he is nominated.

Nixon was obviously as pleased as a man who had hit a grand-slam homer when he wound up a round of enthusiastic receptions Wednesday night.

Belies Coolness

Republicans turned out in numbers that belied any coolness on their part toward the Californian who had crowded their own governor out of the presidential arena.

Returning to Washington on a chartered plane, Nixon told reporters what impressed him most was the crowds clustered on street corners to wave and cheer as his caravan rolled by.

"It was almost as though the general election campaign already was on," he said with an air of near disbelief.

No Easy Job

Nixon minced no words about the difficulties he believes lie ahead of the Republicans in winning New York's prized 45 electoral votes.

"I consider New York a major battleground," he told a news c. ference Wednesday. "It is one of the key, close states in a nationally close election.

"There will be a battle here of the greatest magnitude. But with a united party effort we can carry it."

Among reporters accompanying him the impression was general that New York Republicans like both Nixon and Rockefeller. And in the Upstate and Western areas the suspicion was strong that at this point they might like Nixon even a little more than Rockefeller.

Samos About Ready

Satellite to Do Better Job Than U2s, Is Report

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Eisenhower has ordered an end to U2 spy plane flights—but the Samos reconnaisance satellite is coming up.

This country is so far along with its Samos program that the first of a planned network of them should be circling the earth within the next four months.

Experts say it will do a far more effective job than the U2 could—and will be much harder to knock down.

"We have done a number of things to lessen the vulnerability of Samos satellites," an Air Force officer disclosed in an exclusive interview. "I won't say what those things are, but Samos will not be an easy target."

The high-ranking officer, who declined use of his name, said there had been no speedup in the Samos program since the U2 incident because Samos had a top priority.

The Samos satellites, containing photographic and television equipment, will be boosted into polar orbit by Atlas missiles from launch pads at Point Arguello, 150 miles north of Los Angeles.

Whirling around the earth's poles, they will be able to scan every square mile of the earth's surface and relay to Allied ground stations the location of Soviet missile sites and any unusual concentration of troops or war materiel.

Some Samos cameras will be designed to focus on objects that are relatively small from their altitude of 100 to 400 miles—such as missiles on launch pads. Others will be designed to scan wide areas of territory.

Each satellite probably will be able both to take films for later study and to televise scenes immediately.

Flemming Asks For Resignation Of Drug Official

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has demanded the resignation of a federal drug official who reportedly received more than a quarter of a million dollars from outside activities involving firms his office polices.

Senators heard testimony Wednesday that the $287,242.40 received by Dr. Henry Welch since 1953 came primarily from the sale of reprints of scientific articles used to advertise and promote drug products.

Welch, head of the Food and Drug Administration's antibiotics division, had told his superiors that he was receiving an "honorarium" for the outside work — without saying how much money he got.

Within hours after the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee heard its staff investigators present a financial accounting of Welch's outside work, Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming asked for Welch's resignation.

Flemming said Welch had deliberately misled his superiors "in receiving compensation far beyond what is the commonly accepted concept of an honorarium."

Welch, reported suffering from a heart ailment, earlier had applied for disability retirement effective June 1. He was paid $17,500 annually in his government job.

Welch did not attend Wednesday's hearing and was not immediately available for comment.

Senate investigators have been looking into drug pricing practices.

No Arraignment Wins $3,500 Case For Illegal Arrest

A Wallkill man who was awarded $3,500 in the Court of Claims for illegal arrest and confinement brought out that he was taken to a state homeopathic hospital without having been arraigned on a charge.

Warren P. Mierop contended in his suit that he was left outside the office of a justice of the peace while a state trooper went in, and that he was never arraigned but taken to Middletown State Hospital for observation and examination for a period of not to exceed 60 days.

He also said he was confined to the hospital without being permitted to communicate with his mother.

Mierop's arrest followed an incident August 9, 1955, at the Orange County Fair, Middletown, after he claimed he had won a prize in a game that consisted of throwing balls into a barrel.

The concessionnaire charged that Mierop had taken a clock and brought him to a tent occupied by state police. Mierop alleged he was assaulted by Sgt. William Hanley, handcuffed and made sit on a chair for an hour after he had resisted the officers for 15 minutes.

Mierop was charged with throwing the clock to the ground and stamping on it.

Later, he contended, the police brought him to the office of Justice of the Peace Harold B. Hulse, but that he was never arrainged. He said Trooper John Ehre entered the office, but did not take him in, and that he was taken to the Middletown State Hospital.

On August 17, 1955, after a habeas corpus proceeding had been commenced by Attorney John J. Schick of Kingston, Meirop was taken before Special County Judge Edward M. O,Gorman at Monroe and discharged.

Judge Alexander Del Giorno of the Court of Claims ruled that Meirop was illegally arrested and committed to the hospital and that he is entitled to damages from the State of New York in the sum of $3,500.

Near Orly Field

Two Are Killed As Airliner and Small Plane Hit

PARIS (AP)—A twin-jet Caravelle carrying 37 persons collided with a light training plane 6,000 feet up today. The airliner landed safely with a great hole ripped in the roof. The light plane's engine was still stuck in the jet's fuselage.

One of the passengers was killed by flying debris. The pilot of the light plane also perished. The airline said 25 persons were injured.

The Caravelle landed at Orly Field at almost the same time Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchchev left there for Berlin aboard his special turboprop plane Khrushchev apparently was unaware of the accident.

The collision took place about five miles from Orly Field as the Air Algeria Caravelle was coming down for a landing after a trip from North Africa.

The airline reported that all the passengers aboard the jet were French.

Labor, Industry Doubt Conference Will Prove Much

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor and management representatives get a chance today to decide whether they want to try to agree on mutual problems or continue to fight them out.

A six-man group—three representatives each from management and organized labor—arranged to meet at the bidding of President Eisenhower to lay out plans for a series of industrial peace talks.

These talks, as outlined by Eisenhower, would be designed to try to reach agreements that would lead to better employer-union relations, curb inflation, increase output, and spur economic growth.

Both sides publicly pledged to work at the job but privately said they had doubts about accomplishing anything. Like the participants at the ill-fated Paris meeting of the world powers, the labor-management conferees are apparently distrustful and suspicious of each other.

The meeting today had an apparently simple goal. That is to agree on an agenda of matters to be discussed at future conferences and what additional men should be invited in by both sides.

Cornwall Teacher Given IRE Award

Mid Hudson Sub Section, Institute of Radio Engineers, presented its "outstanding high school science teacher" award to Cornwall Central High School teacher John H. Ahlen recently.

The award was presented to Ahlen by IRE Chairman Robert R. Blessing at the Institute's annual dinner-dance held in conjunction with the American Institute of Electrial Engineers at Beekman Arms, Rhinebeck.

The award was made to Ahlen for his efforts in promoting interest in pursuit of science and engineering for the school year 1959-60.

Missile Problems Solved

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Missilemen on opposite coasts of Florida apparently have solved Problems which plagued the Polaris submarine missile and Bomarc-A antiaircraft rocket.

Polaris flashed from an underground tube at Cape Canaveral and raced 1,000 miles in a successful test of a compressed air launch on the weapon's inertial guidance system. At Eglin Air Force Base on the northwest coast, three Bomarc-A's demonstrated their ability to intercept flying targets.

Urges Handy Strap

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Teachers should have a strap handy to keep discipline in public schools, says Municipal Judge Charles T. Smith.

"Today a great many families are ignoring discipline in the home on the theory that the schools are doing it," Judge Smith said Wednesday. "But teachers are not meting out punishment because boards of education frown on it. It's a vicious circle."

Smith sentenced a parent to five days in jail for slapping a teacher. Ambrose Cosgrove, 51, said he struck Miss Helen Nies because he thought the teacher had slapped his 10-year-old son, Terry.

Non-Swimmer Drowns

WATERTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Roy O. Youngs, a 16-year-old who could not swim, jumped from a sinking boat Wednesday and was drowned. He might have lived had he stayed in the boat, for it became stuck in mud and was not entirely submerged.

Youngs, of nearby Depauville, had been running a motorboat on a millpond in the area. He had a 35-pound rock in the front for balance. On a turn, the rock rolled to the back and the boat began to sink.

Police said 23 slot machines and several pinball machines also were taken in the raid Wednesday.

Sgt. William Lumbard of the State Police said the warehouse operation was the distribution center for the gambling devices in New York and Pennsylvania.

Appeals Court Rules

Detailed Tax Lists Must Be Published

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Court of Appeals held today that counties must publish in local newspapers detailed lists, not summaries, of tax-exempt properties.

The state's highest court decided, 5-2, in favor of the Lockport Union-Sun & Journal and, in so doing, reversed a lower court. The newspaper had challenged a move by the clerk of the Niagara County Board of Supervisors to limit legal notices of tax-exempt properties to summaries.

Enacted in 1904

Previously, the board had published lists of individual properties that were exempt or partially exempt from taxes. These include property owned by churches, veterans' groups, fraternal and other such organizations.

The law involved, enacted in 1904, requires counties to submit "tabulated statements" of tax-exempt properties to the State Tax Department and to have such statements published in local newspapers.

The law does not specify whether the statements should be full lists. Over the years, the practice has been to send summaries to the Tax Department and full lists to the newspapers.

The court pointed out that, for 50 years, the official notices had listed each exempt property. Beginning in 1955, the Niagara County board published summary statements listing on totals in each category.

In 1957, the state attorney general issued a formal opinion that publication of the complete list was required.

Won Court Order

The Lockport newspaper then won a State Supreme Court order directing the county board to publish the detailed list.

But the court's Appellate Division, Fourth Department, overruled that court on the ground the "tabulated statement" submitted in summary form to the Tax Department was sufficient for newspaper publication.

The Court of Appeals said it agreed with the attorney general that the object of the summary statement submitted to the Tax Department was to show the overall effect of such exemption on the economy of the state.

The court said it also agreed with the attorney general that "on the other hand, the purpose of the publication in the newspapers is to advise local taxpayers of the specific properties that have been exempted and to guard against errors, discrimination and fraud."

The court said that, in adopting the law, the Legislature "appears to have been. . .actuated by the policy of subjecting tax-exemptions to the scrutiny of the neighbors."

Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond and Associate Judge Stanley H. Fuld dissented. They said they agreed with the Appellate Division that a summary publication in newspapers met the requirements of the law.

Lefkowitz Picks Aide

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Walter J. Hogan of Johnstown was appointed today as an assistant attorney general in the State Law Department's Real Property Bureau.

The post pays $13,327 a year. The bureau handles acquisition of property for highways and other state projects.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz appointed Hogan, he has been a city court judge in Johnstown.
